Recommend 2 More District 3 Judges; Includes Ulster, Six

In a drive to create 44 more Supreme Court judgeships in New York State, the State Judicial Conference has recommended that two additional Supreme Court judges be named for the Third Judicial District which consists of Albany, Rensselaer, Columbia, Greene, Ulster, Schoharie and Sullivan Counties.

Avert Potential Catastrophe at Millerton Plant

A potential catastrophe at a propane gas plant on Route 22 in the Dutchess County village of Millerton was averted without accident Wednesday, after a tank truck ruptured and spilled approximately 600 gallons of the gas.

Heavy Fumes Over Area

Heavy fumes of the leaking gas laid low over the area due to the atmospheric conditions causing much concern among authorities and residents of the area.

State Police from Dutchess County substituted, fire departments from nearby communities, deputy sheriffs and members of the Civil Defense converged on the community, halted traffic on the main highways and warned residents to evacuate their homes until the emergency ended.

The scene of the incident centered at the Suburban Propane plant on Route 22, where a major fire occurred several months ago after a large quantity of gas ignited. That fire burned for several days as volunteer firemen from area units stood by.

According to State Police Sergeant Herbert E. Stahn of the Dover Plains barracks, Gary Fenn, a truck driver, had pumped about 1,200 gallons of gas from a storage tank into a tank truck.

60 Gallons An Hour
Sergeant Stahn told The Freeman that Fenn shut off the flow of gas and got on the truck. As he proceeded to drive away without disconnecting the hose, a rupture resulted. Stahn said the gas flowed from the tank truck at the rate of 60 gallons an hour.

Route 22, the main highway in the area, was shut off to traffic within a radius of about two miles. Traffic was re-routed through other roads around the area involved in the gas incident.

Transfer Train Passengers
Passengers aboard a northbound train on the Harlem Division of the New York Central Railroad were transferred from the train at the Millerton limits to another train north of the village by bus. It was feared that a spark from the locomotive might touch off the gas and a major fire might result.

Two representatives of the gas company were summoned from New Jersey. Troopers said they managed to securely seal the ruptured tank at about 1:30 a. m. today. The leak started at 5:10 p. m.

Route 22 was opened to traffic at about 2 a. m. and residents who had evacuated their homes during the emergency returned at that hour.

the reason for seeking additional judges.

Presently, the Third Judicial District has a quota of 10 justices. There is one vacancy on the bench.

Justices in the District are Donald S. Taylor, Russell G. Hunt, Ellis J. Staley Jr., Louis G. Bruhn, Lawrence H. Cooke, DeForest C. Pitt, John H. Pennock, Harold E. Koreman and T. Paul Kane. Two of the judges now authorized for the district serve on the Appellate Division, Third Department, and another serves as administrative judge, who in addition to his regular trial and special term assignments, must devote a large part of his time to administrative matters.

Ulster County, a part of the Third Judicial District, now has two resident judges, Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth and Justice Harry E. Schirick retired as of January as a Justice of the Supreme Court but continues to act as a Special Referee.

Some 1961 Cases
The case load in Ulster County is high with many cases dating back to 1961. The Conference Tuesday in its report also recommended establishment of 61 other judgeships in other courts across New York State to bolster the manpower of courts. Recommendations were incorporated in a special report Tuesday to the governor and the legislature by the Conference's Administrative Board, headed by Chief Judge Stanley H. Fuld of the Court of Appeals.

A suggestion made last year to create additional judges died when leaders of both parties could not agree on the number of judgeships each party was supposed to get.

Adoption of the proposals this year by the Legislature appears to be highly unlikely because of the continuing political feuding between Republican and Democrats in New York City.

According to an Associated Press dispatch from Albany, the conference asserted there was a "dire need" to increase the number of judges in the courts of New York State.

The conference oversees administration of New York's judicial system.

In its report, the board recalled that it had recommended creating a total of 91 new judgeships last year but that none had been provided. Action was stalled in the Legislature because political leaders were unable to agree on how the court seats would be filled.

"This year," the report said, "the Administrative Board has

Wallkill Man Dies in Crash

SWEDSBORO, N.J. (AP) — The man who was fatally burned Wednesday when his car overturned and caught fire on the New Jersey Turnpike has been identified by police as Peter G. Garcia, 56, of Wallkill, N.Y.

Garcia was burned beyond recognition, police said. Identification was made by papers found in his car.

New College President

DR. GEORGE B. ERBSTEIN

Succeeds Lake In UCCCC Post

Dr. George B. Erbstein, a Hudson Valley native who has 19 years experience in community college education, including 13 as an administrator, today was named president of Ulster County Community College, Kingston.

Approved by SUNY
The appointment was announced by John C. Quimby, chairman of the Board of Trustees of Ulster County Community College, who said the selection had been approved today by the Board of Trustees of the State University of New York.

For the last six years, Dr. Erbstein has been associated, beginning as dean of instruction and then as the first dean of faculty, with Montgomery Junior College in Takoma Park, Md. At this community college, located near Washington, D. C., his responsibilities involved a multi-campus operation with 4,400 students and 267 faculty members. Previously, Dr. Erbstein was a member of the founding faculty at Orange County Community College in Middletown, and later he served there as director of the Evening, Extension and Community Services Division.

Native of Beacon
A native of Beacon, Dr. Erbstein attended public schools there. He received his bachelor's and master's degrees at the State University College at Albany, and received his doctorate degree from Columbia University in the field of administration of institutions of higher education. He also has had additional study at Yale, Syracuse and Boston Universities.

At Columbia University, Dr. Erbstein was the first graduate in the leadership program in junior college administration sponsored by the W. K. Kellogg Foundation. His Kellogg-sponsored dissertation was a national study concerned with non-credit education in the public community colleges.

To Start About April 10
It is expected that Dr. Erbstein will assume his new duties at U.C.C.C. about April 10.

"Dr. Erbstein has an extensive background in the field of community college education and comes highly recommended," said Quimby, "and we are fully confident he will continue to provide our college with the outstanding leadership it so vitally needs. He

Starts Jury's Action Into Death Probe

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — A grand jury moves into the nation probe today with a subpoena for a lawyer who once included Lee Harvey Oswald among his clients.

The Orleans Parish (County)

grand jury ordered Dean A. Andrews Jr. to appear at its secret session for questioning today.

It marked the grand jury's first step into the investigation, which Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison contends will prove that a conspiracy was hatched in New Orleans which culminated in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in Dallas Nov. 22, 1963.

The Warren Commission said Oswald, a former New Orleans resident, shot the president and there was no credible evidence any one else was involved.

Andrews, who said he handled a few minor legal matters for Oswald in the summer of 1963, told the Warren Commission that — shortly after the assassination — a man he knew as Clay Bertrand telephoned him and asked that he represent Oswald.

The FBI could never find a Clay Bertrand, Garrison contends that Clay L. Shaw, a prosperous New Orleans businessman, used the name Bertrand as an alias. Shaw said he has never used an alias.

Shaw Free on Bond
Shaw, 54, former managing director of the International Trade Mart here, was arrested March 1 and booked on conspiracy to murder. He is free on $10,000 bond.

Under Louisiana law, being booked does not constitute a formal charge. The question of formal charge may be decided Tuesday at an unusual preliminary hearing for Shaw in Criminal District Court.

Shaw's attorneys lost a bid Wednesday to have the case quashed — but Criminal Dist. Judge Bernard Bazert said Garrison may have to produce his unidentified "confidential informant" against Shaw during the preliminary hearing.

"It is my inclination now that the identity of the informant will have to be disclosed at the hearing," said Judge Bazert, after refusing to dismiss the case on a claim of lack of jurisdiction.

The informant was first mentioned in Garrison's application for a warrant to search Shaw's home. The application alleged that Shaw, Oswald, David W. Ferrie and others met at Ferrie's apartment here in September 1963 and agreed "to kill John F. Kennedy."

Present at the meetings, said Garrison, was "a confidential informant who saw the conspirators and heard the plans."

Ferrie, a free-lance pilot, died at his apartment here last Feb. 22. He had scoffed at the investigation, calling it a big joke in which he had been "pegged as the getaway pilot."

The death, which Garrison called a suicide, was officially listed by the coroner as due to a massive brain hemorrhage, caused when a weak brain artery was burst by high blood pressure.

Now Assistant DA

The district attorney's office, as legal advisor to the grand jury, usually determines who will be subpoenaed to appear before it. The subpoena for Andrews was issued Wednesday.

Asst. Dist. Atty. James L. Alcock said Andrews was summoned in connection with the assassination probe. Andrews now is an assistant district attorney in neighboring Jefferson Parish.

Andrews was questioned in

Discuss Vigilante Formation Tonight

By HUGH REYNOLDS
Freeman Staff Writer

The vigilantes are coming! "But don't worry," Francis H. Fatum told The Freeman this morning, "We're not going to be walking around with guns on our hips."

Fatum, the owner of Fatum's Taxi Company and the Fatum's Ambulance Service, is the head of a citizen's committee which will meet tonight at 8 o'clock with local law enforcement officials on the problem of the rising crime rate in the area.

Burglarized Twice

The leader of the vigilantes, as they are calling themselves, has firsthand knowledge of crime in the area. He has been burglarized twice in the past two weeks to the tune of an estimated $450.

"Basically, the idea is to extend the utmost cooperation of the citizens to the police on an organized basis," Fatum said.

"Right now this committee is more concerned with investigating the problem of crime in Kingston, it's causes and what can be done," Fatum said.

Kingston Police Chief Robert J. Murphy agreed with Fatum on the need for more cooperation of the people with his department.

The two men also agreed on one other aspect of the problem, the courts. Fatum said the courts were too lenient with criminals, especially in the minor charges.

"A guy breaks in someplace and the court gives him a 30-day suspended sentence," Fatum said. "So he lays low for 30 days and he's back on the prowl again."

Hits High Court

Chief Murphy claimed that the Supreme Court was handcuffing the police with its recent ruling on confessions and investigative procedures. "We have to practically catch them redhanded," Murphy said.

"Believe me, it's not easy," Murphy said. "I think our police department can stand with the best of them but with these new rulings some of our strongest cases have gone out the window on a technicality."

Question Training

The subject of the Kingston Police Department came up with Fatum suggesting that perhaps the newer men on the force left something to be desired in the way of training.

Murphy emphatically denied this. "The men on this force are adequately trained to carry out the responsibilities of a police officer," the chief said.

When asked what this training consisted of, the chief said that all men had to graduate from a New York City Municipal Police training school before being assigned to the Kingston force as regular officers.

"The course runs six weeks," Murphy said, and it's pretty tough. After a man graduates he is assigned to a veteran officer while on patrol. We also have departmental training."

Chief Murphy said the force is currently under strength with a total of 55 men. The normal complement is 61 men, including the chief. The chief said another 10 men added to the force could serve the needs of the city.

At present a patrolman on the city force receives a starting salary of $5,100 a year. After 10 years a patrolman can expect to

TWA Plane Down In Ohio, Flight From New York

URBANA, Ohio—(AP)—A Trans World Airlines DC9 with 21 persons aboard crashed today just 50 miles from the scene of a crash Sunday which killed 38 persons.

The sheriff's office said some bodies were scattered amid wreckage which landed near the resort community of Meadow Lake about five miles northwest of this central Ohio city.

The hospital in Urbana reported six ambulances had arrived, with crash victims.

Police and rescue units from Springfield and Dayton, Ohio, were dispatched to the scene, identified as near the community of Northville not far from Kaiser Lake northwest of here.

The TWA office in Columbus, Ohio, said only that radio communication had been lost with its Flight 514 from Baltimore, Md., to Dayton.

Only Sunday a Lake Central airliner crashed near Kenton, Ohio, about 40 miles north of here, killing 38 persons.

TWA said the DC9 used on that flight has a capacity of 70 passengers. The DC9 is a medium range jet.

TWA said the plane was a DC9-31, 553 with 21 passengers. It left LaGuardia for Harrisburg, Pittsburgh, Dayton and Chicago.

The highway patrol said its information identified the plane

Board to Ponder Edict, Glenford Still Seethes

Insisting they had not arrived at their decision to remove Glenford-Ohayo Mountain area students from the West Hurley Elementary School to the Woodstock School next fall, either hastily or without further study, the Ontario School Board has, nevertheless, agreed to review the matter and advise Glenford's irate parents of their final decision on March 20.

Equally insistent, up-in-arms Glenford residents maintain they have cooperated just once too often in several similar transfers of youngsters over the years, adamantly suggest "it's some other area's turn" this time around, and are still hopping mad enough to insist they'll stick to their sit-ins and boycott the school system by refusing to send children to classes at all, if the March 20 decision is still unfavorable and discriminatory," in their opinion.

Glenford is protesting action taken by the board in February to shift its students from West Hurley to Woodstock for at least two school years because of "severe overcrowding." Earlier, Glenfordites had asked for a special meeting with the board to further discuss the controversial matter; stressed they felt they were always looked upon as some sort of "marginal area" that could be juggled and rejuggled to resolve recurrent OCS problems.

The board agreed to such a meeting and, Wednesday night, reserved a half hour during its session for discussion. Protests came so fast and furiously, the meeting ran far longer than the allotted time and grew more heated as it progressed. Unresolved friction was more than a little evident when Glenford "natives" charged the board with showing preference to nearby Maverick Park, a new, modern housing development, in deciding to transfer Glenford students rather than Park pupils, who reside closer to Woodstock. If it was never agreed

1,617 U.S. Casualties Are Highest Of Vietnam War; Include 232 Dead

SAIGON (AP) — The highest American losses of the Vietnam war were announced today, reflecting the steadily rising U. S. military effort and Communist retaliation with heavier mortar attacks, mines, booby traps and hit and run assaults.

The total casualties last week were 1,617 killed, wounded and missing. It included 232 dead, 1,381 wounded and four missing. Most were in the small skirmishes and fleeting Red raids that have characterized the recent fighting.

While the over-all total was the highest of the war, the total of 232 killed was exceeded by one week in November, 1965, when 240 Americans died. But most of that death toll came in the fierce Ia Drang Valley battle, not in engagements scattered the length of South Vietnam.

By unofficial tabulation, American combat losses in the war up to last Saturday midnight were 7,920 killed and 45,836 wounded.

The U. S. Command reported 1,736 Communists were killed last week, well above average but not a record. However, South Vietnam's "open arms" program to attract defectors dealt the Reds a hard blow. A record weekly total of 1,168 Communist soldiers and political workers came into allied lines waving the slips of paper granting them amnesty for turning on the Reds.

Allied statistics show the open arms program is attracting defectors at twice the rate of last year.

Another sign of the stepped-up war was the lifting of security wraps on the first major offensive operation in the Mekong Delta by troops of the U. S. 9th

Infantry Division, the first big U. S. ground unit to be permanently assigned to that vital area which contains about one third of South Vietnam's 15 million people and grows 80 per cent of its rice.

The division's 3rd Brigade arrived at Dong Tam, about 40 miles southwest of Saigon, in late January and has been digging in. The U. S. Command announced that more than 1,500 men of the brigade began sweeping the surrounding Viet Cong-infested paddy land two days ago in Operation Palm Beach.

In a series of skirmishes, the brigade has killed 42 Viet Cong in the operation, a U. S. spokesman said. Communist retaliation cost the brigade nine dead and four wounded in ground combat and two dead and 10 wounded when the Reds mortared

Three Elections

Vote Will Test Popularity of Laborite Rule

LONDON (AP) — The Labor government tested its popularity at home in three special parliamentary elections today as it got word from highly qualified diplomats that French President Charles de Gaulle wants to keep Britain out of the Common Market for three years or more.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson completed visits to Common Market capitals Wednesday to seek support for British membership. He reportedly found only three of the six — Italy, the Netherlands and Luxembourg — wholeheartedly in favor.

But the government was buoyed by a Bank of England forecast that Britain this year will have its first foreign trade surplus since 1962. The National Institute of Economic and Social Research, a private group supported by foundations and government agencies, estimated the foreign exchange surplus at $440 million.

The institute said the government should be able to pay $900 million due the International Monetary Fund on Dec. 1 with the surplus and its $500 million in state holdings of dollar securities without touching the national reserves.

The House of Commons elections were to fill vacancies in the Welsh coal valley of the Rhondda River, the Pollok district of Glasgow, Scotland, and at Nuneaton, in the industrial Midlands.

Two Climbers Rest, Still Seek 2 Others

TALKEETNA, Alaska (AP) — The first men to scale Mt. McKinley in the fierce subarctic winter were resting from their ordeal today while a search continued for two companions who have been unaccounted for since Sunday.

An Army helicopter plucked three Anchorage climbers from the 14,000-foot level of the 20,320-foot mountain late Wednesday. Earlier the men, using a radio dropped from an Air Force plane, sent word that they reached the summit at 7 p.m. March 1.

What was it like at the highest point on the North American continent, in temperatures of about 50 below zero and wind of possibly 100 miles an hour?

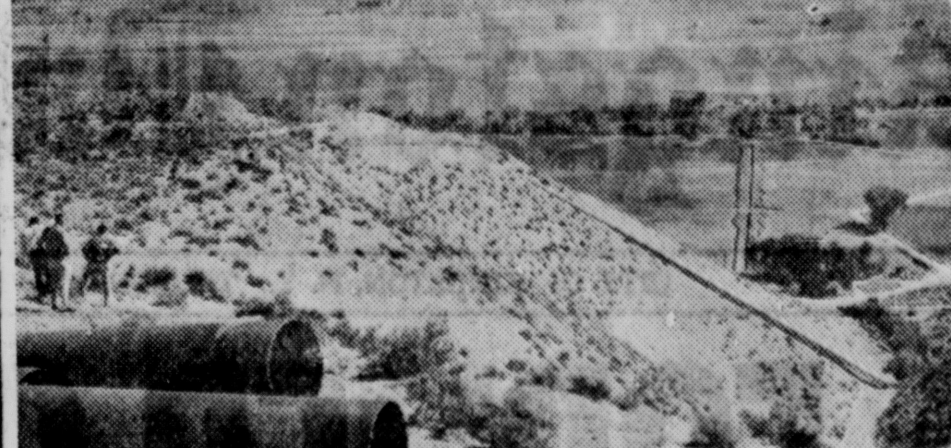

"It was nice," said Ray Genet, 35, of Anchorage when the helicopter landed here. With Genet on the assault were Art Davidson, 22, and Dave Johnston, 24, also of Anchorage.

At Talkeetna they rejoined Gregg Blomberg, 25, of Denver, Colo., leader of the expedition, and John Edwards, 35, of Cleveland, Ohio, from whom they became separated during the climb. Another Army helicopter picked up Blomberg and Edwards at the 8,250-foot level.

A search was begun for Dr. George Wichman, 39, and Shiro Nishimae, 31, both of Anchorage. When last seen they were about 10,000 feet, not far from an igloo or ice cave stocked with supplies.

Makes Restitution

Kingston state police arrested Patricia Humphrey, 19, of North Wilbur Avenue, this city, on a charge of issuing a fraudulent check. Troopers said she pleaded guilty before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Reilly, Town of Ulster, and was fined $10 and given a 30-day suspended sentence. She also made restitution. Trooper David Wachtel made the arrest on a warrant.

WORLD'S LARGEST POTATO FARM is taking shape on a once-barren desert plateau in east-central Oregon. Huge irrigation pumps and 35 miles of underground steel pipe with diameters of from six to 48 inches are being installed to lift up water from the Snake and Malheur rivers 400 to 600 feet to make the 9,000-acre site bloom. At left, welders assemble sections of 32-inch pipe. Above, more pipe awaits installation at the top, from where the view is spectacular. The development, by a subsidiary of the H. J. Heinz Co., is expected to yield a harvest of more than one billion potatoes next fall.

Strike Defies UAW Officials

DETROIT (AP) — Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers struggled today with the problems of a rebellious Ohio local that defied officials and struck a General Motors plant for the second time in 16 days.

The strike Wednesday night by members of Local 549 at GM's strategic Mansfield, Ohio, parts plant put pressure on Reuther to decide how to enforce a trusteeship he slapped on the dissident unit earlier in the day. Ninety per cent of the 300 workers on the overnight shift failed to report for duty at the GM facility. Their action followed by hours a strike vote by about 1,500 of the 2,600 members of Local 549.

UAW officials called an emergency meeting of the union's national General Motors council to discuss the uprising. The meeting was set for 2 p.m. EST. Reuther appointed an administrator to take over the reins from local president Robert Hall, who had been summoned to Detroit for talks with UAW executives. The UAW said Hall and other officers endorsed the trusteeship.

Approves TV Bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mission has approved an application from Mercury Media Inc. of Albany, N.Y., for a Channel 45 television station.

The federal agency also announced Wednesday that it had received an application from Philip Y. Hahn Jr. of Rochester, N.Y., for a Channel 31 television station.

'Sort of Battle'

Jakarta Claims Communist Nest Of 80 Killed

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesian army troops wiped out a "Communist nest" in central Java last Sunday and killed a faith healer and about 80 of his followers in "a sort of battle," the official news agency Antara reported today.

The agency said those slain were part of the Sept. 30 Movement, the Communists that tried to take over the government on that date in 1965. A central Javan army spokesman said remnants of the movement "are known to be planning a counteroffensive."

Members of Congress meeting in Jakarta continued to demand the dismissal of President Sukarno, who has been linked to the coup attempt by witnesses at subsequent trials.

Most of the congressmen who spoke rejected appeals for leniency from military leaders, who have stripped Sukarno of executive power and reduced him to figurehead status.

Medicaid Costs

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Three Republican state senators offer proposals that, they say, would cut the state's costs in its medical-aid program by requiring eligible persons to pay part of their bills.

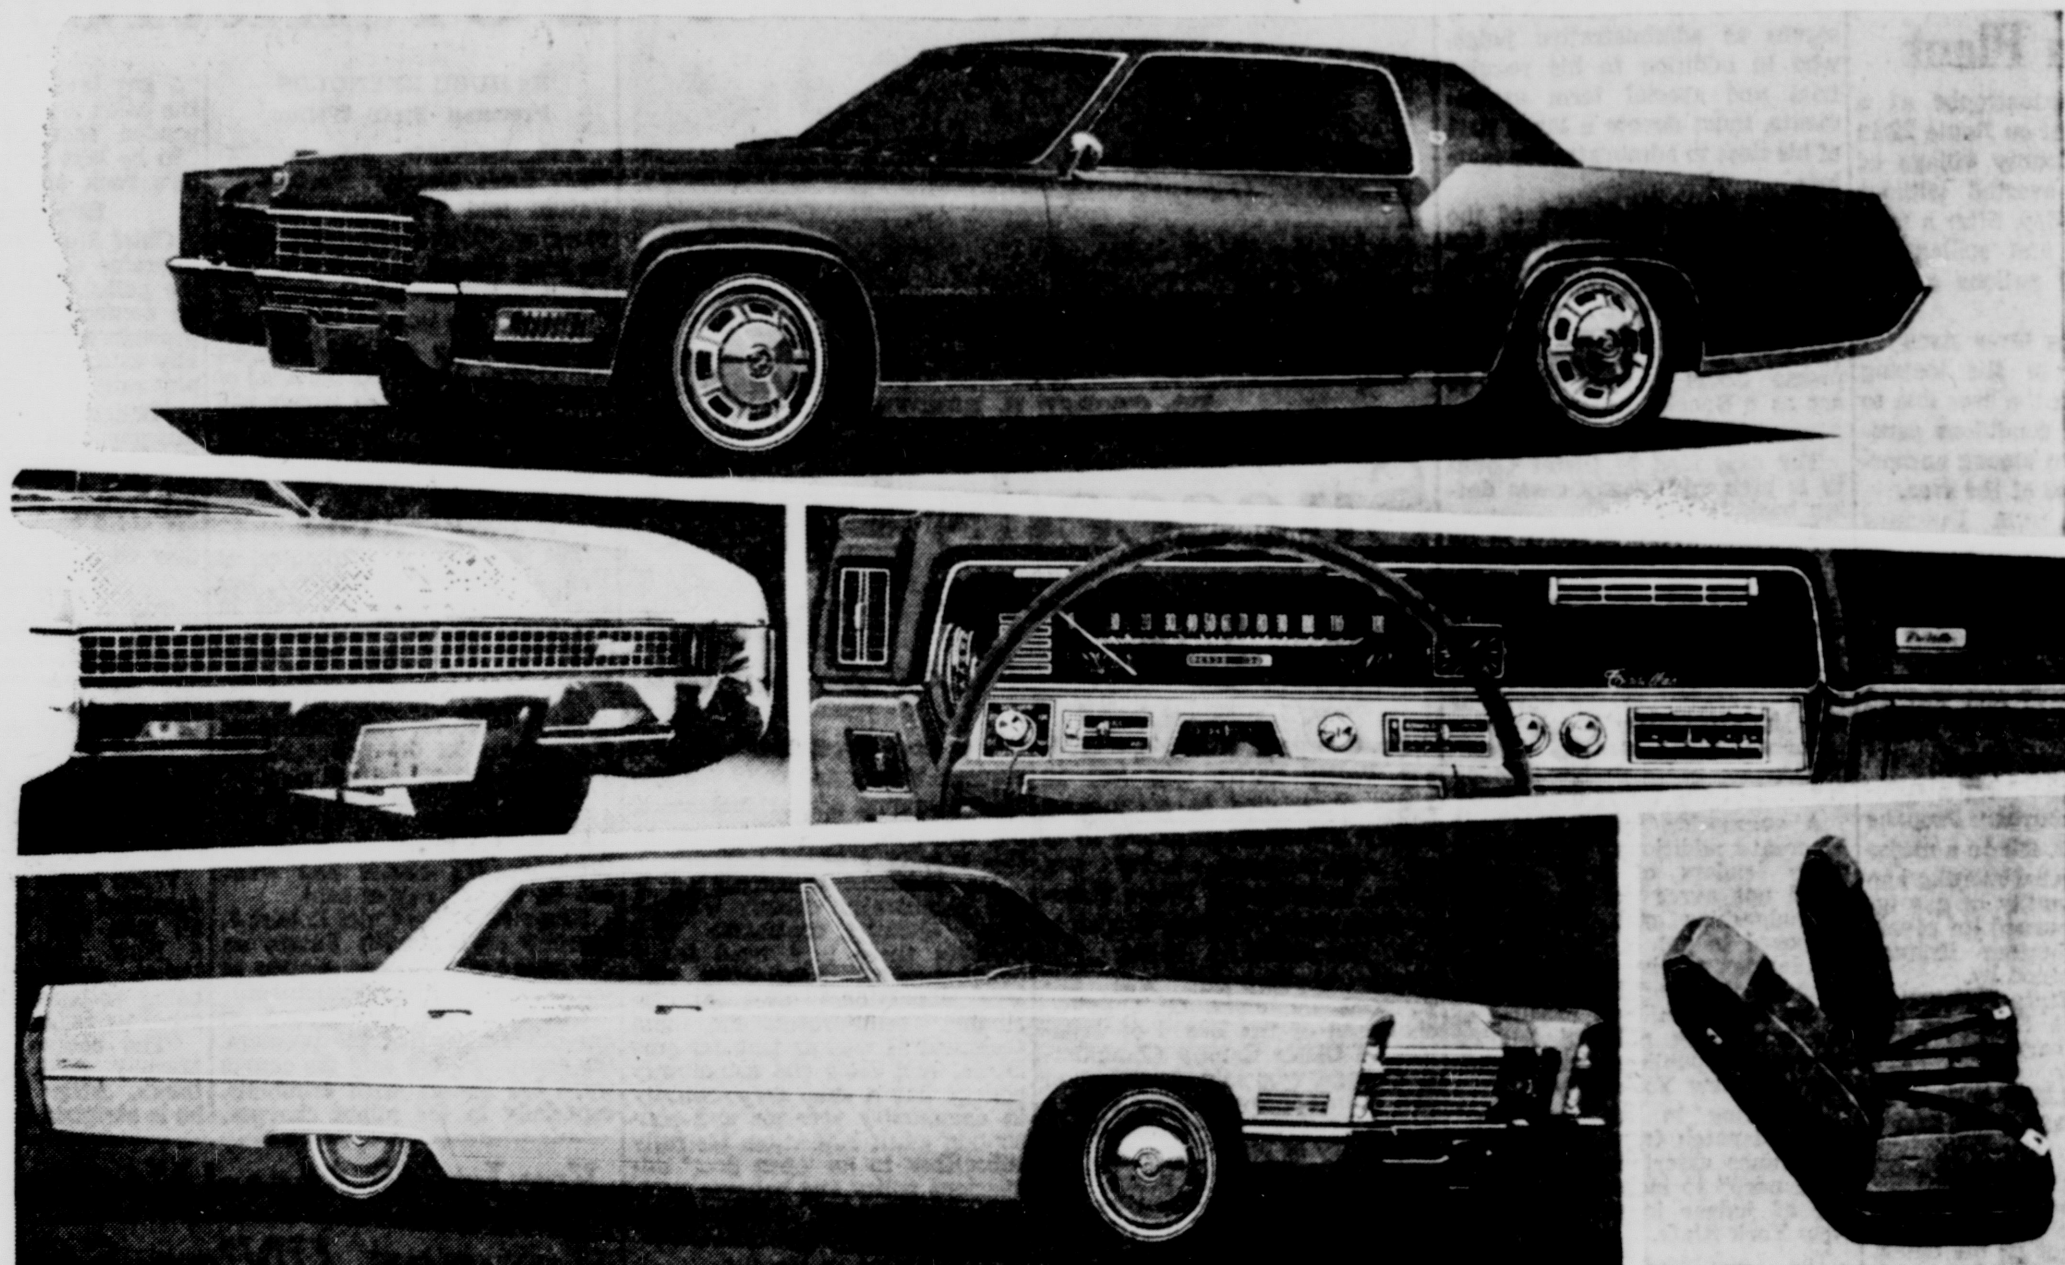

The measures were aired Wednesday at a meeting here of the Joint Legislative Committee on Public Health and Medicare.

Senators William F. Adams of Kenmore and Norman F. Lent of East Rockaway said they would introduce two measures embodying a deductible feature and a "co-insurance" principle.

Sen. Tarky Lomardi Jr. of Syracuse discussed another measure that would require medical-aid registrants to pay 10 per cent of all out-of-hospital medical bills.

The measure embodying the deductible feature was drawn by Lent. It would require all recipients of state medical-aid to pay the first two per cent of net income on medical bills before receiving assistance from the state. As an example, a family with an annual net income of $6,000 after taxes would have to pay $120 of its own money before drawing from the state. This measure, Lent said, would save the state $100 million annually.

Note Diversion Need To Bail Out Medicare

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government may have to divert to the medicare program Social Security funds earmarked for retirement benefits, says Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee.

The Arkansas Democrat said costs threaten to plunge medicare into the red.

He mentioned as possibility for keeping the program financially healthy a hike in the medicare tax or tapping of the retirement fund.

Mills' comments came after officials of the American Hospital Association testified at the committee's hearings on President Johnson's proposed Social Security increase proposals.

The AHA officials estimated that hospital expenses will average $57.93 a day for each patient by next September — an increase of 18.6 per cent in a year. They predicted further increases during the next three to five years.

Mills said the projected rate of increase is about twice that estimated by Congress in setting the medicare tax of 1/2 per cent on workers and employers, limited to the first $6,600 a person earns. The tax is scheduled eventually to reach 8-10 per cent.

Fifth of YearDutchess Man Is Killed, 2 Hurt In Orange Crash

A 40-year-old Poughkeepsie man was killed and two others were injured at 9:30 p. m. Wednesday as the result of a two-car headon collision which occurred on Route 9W about three-tenths of a mile south of the Ulster-Orange County line, Town of Newburgh.

Coroner Harvey Agnew said David L. Dickerson, of 64 Marple Road, Poughkeepsie, died of internal hemorrhages. He also suffered scalp lacerations and multiple contusions. Coroner Agnew ruled death accidental.

Trooper R. C. Anderson of the Newburgh State Police told The Freeman that the other car was driven by William Morris, 32, Wappingers Falls, who suffered lacerations and multiple abrasions of the face and head and possible internal injuries. He was taken to St. Luke's Hospital in Newburgh.

Joseph Blaine, of Fishkill, owner of the 1967 sedan operated by Morris and passenger in the car, sustained lacerations of the face and left leg.

According to Trooper Anderson, Morris was driving south and Dickerson was traveling north on Route 9W when his 1962 sedan veered into the southbound lane and the vehicles collided headon.

Dickerson was ejected from his car onto the north shoulder of the highway.

Dickerson was Orange County's fifth highway fatality of 1967.

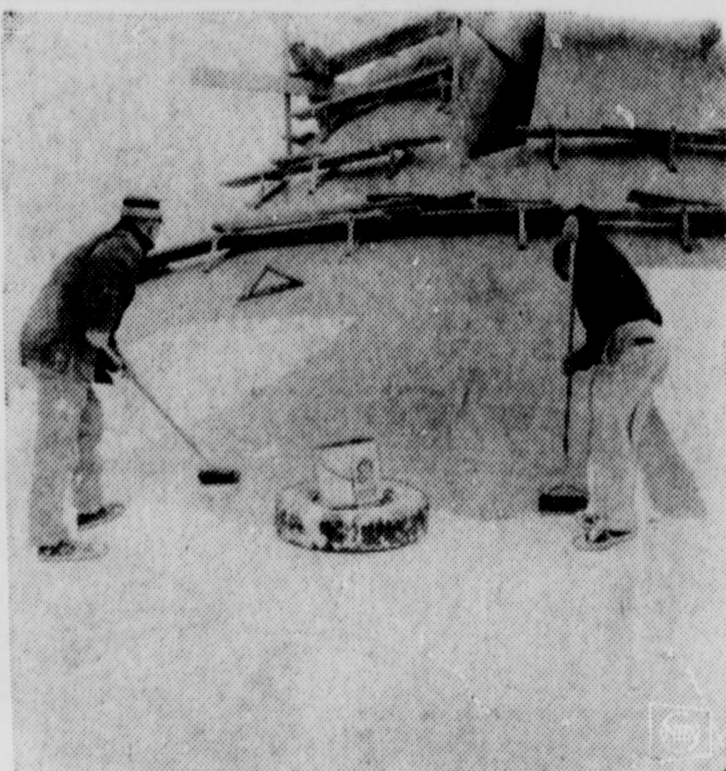

Oppose PO Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D - N.Y., says the Post Office Department has suspended plans for a new post office in Afton, N.Y., pending a survey of citizens in the community.

Stratton said Wednesday he had received mail from residents of the Chenango County community in opposition to the plan.

If the survey shows the residents do not want the post office, "I'm sure the Post Office Department will gladly withdraw its decision to build it," the Democrat from Amsterdam commented.

Stratton said several persons commented in their letters to him that the present post office building is adequate.

COLLECTING RAINWATER runoff from roofs to help alleviate possible future water shortages may be possible by painting roofs with a new liquid silicon rubber that hardens after application. Singapore Deal Stirs Koreans On Arms Request

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — America's South Korean allies are saving "me, too" in a big way after learning that the United States is selling neutralist Singapore 23,000 modern automatic rifles.

The Koreans want up-to-date guns for their troops along the frontier with North Korea as well as those in Vietnam who are still armed with World War II model weapons.

Want New Weapons

Defense Minister Kim Sung-eun told a news conference he will ask U.S. officials to issue modern automatic weapons to the 45,000 Koreans in Vietnam when he accompanies Premier Chung Il-kwon to Washington next week.

Kim refused to comment on the Singapore weapons deal, but he said it was urgent that "outmoded small firearms of our boys" in Vietnam be replaced with automatic weapons suitable for jungle warfare.

Kim, a former Marine officer, said modern weapons were also needed for his troops manning the 152-mile Korean truce lines while North Korean troops across the line are armed with modern automatic weapons.

The Seoul newspaper Hankook Ilbo said the sale of automatic weapons to Singapore "makes us feel as if we had been betrayed by a friend."

Shows Excess

It said the sale "demonstrates an excess in the U.S. capability of manufacturing and conveying such modern rifles badly needed in the Vietnam war, especially by our troops whose outmoded rifles are inferior to the enemy fire power."

"And yet the supply of automatic rifles to our troops on Vietnam duty has been delayed on the pretext that U.S. production and transportation capability is rather limited."

The State Department said Monday that the cash sale of 23,000 AR15 rifles to Singapore was approved last November by the U.S. Munitions and Arms Control Agency. The AR15 is the civilian counterpart of the M16 automatic rifle used by the U.S. Army in Vietnam. U.S. officials did not disclose the total amount of the sale, but the rifles have a value of $87 to $100 each.

Like Cinderella Kissed

ENDICOTT, N. Y. (AP)—The musical version of the fairy tale Cinderella has raised a pressing question among youngsters in a third-grade class here.

"We like it when Cinderella and the Prince kissed. Were they really engaged?"

That question was contained in a letter the class of 7 and 8-year-olds wrote to the principal of Union-Endicott High School, which performed the musical for elementary school pupils here recently.

Charges Terms Are Hardened for Vietnam Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former top aide to President John F. Kennedy says the Johnson administration has hardened its terms for Vietnam peace talks and apparently "does not wish negotiations now."

The charge Wednesday by Arthur Schlesinger Jr., a special assistant to Kennedy and a Pulitzer Prize-winning author, drew an immediate White House denial.

Administration leaders "have made clear we're ready to negotiate an end to the war," said George Christian, White House press secretary.

Shortly before Schlesinger read his statement to a news conference, Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said the United States "is ready for unconditional discussions today" on ending the war.

Goldberg, chief U. S. envoy to the United Nations, was asked if U. S. policy calls for delaying talks until South Vietnam's constitutional government is installed later this year.

"That is not true," Goldberg replied.

Air Over 670,000 Defects in Vehicles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Potential defects in more than 670,000 cars, trucks and buses — most of them 1967 models — have been reported to the government by domestic and foreign manufacturers since Jan. 1.

Commerce Department records showed today that most of the recalls were by the domestic big three—General Motors,

Ford and Chrysler—for a variety of possible defects involving brake parts, steering shaft alignment and windshield wipers.

Three other domestic and seven foreign producers also are listed.

Some of the recalls have been announced publicly by the companies but this isn't required under the new traffic safety law.

OFFENSIVE STAGE BEGINS

While world statesmen are busy discussing steps to peace in Vietnam, the offensive phase of the war has begun. The way to peace may be opened by force of arms sooner than by force of logic.

In this war, there is no such thing as an offensive and no pitched battles between large forces. There are sustained sweeps and hunt and destroy missions. It is just as difficult to find the enemy and engage him in combat and he is just as elusive as ever, but numbers and mobility are beginning to tell for the Americans and their allies.

A week's kill of 2,332 enemy soldiers and defection of 1,108 were both records. The enemy cannot sustain them for long, despite the fact that there is no sign of a halt in infiltration from North Vietnam through Laos and the Ho Chi Minh trail.

What has begun to tell in favor of the Americans and their allies is the number of effectiveness now under the command of General William C. Westmoreland. With 415,000 troops at his disposal, General Westmoreland has been able to beat a tattoo against enemy concentrations, wherever suspected.

At a given time, 15 to 20 probes are under way simultaneously. The objective is to keep the enemy on the run, to deprive him of places in which to hide, and to keep him from spreading further into the country.

General Westmoreland has not yet been able to flush a sizable force anywhere and engage it. Each prong of his offensive has become effective. Each is contributing to the overall aim of reducing enemy territory and squeezing the enemy into less and less terrain, while freeing more and more of the area he has dominated and liberating more and more people.

It is not possible for General Westmoreland to forecast the end, or even the time it will take to bring an end to the fighting. But for the first time this year, his strategy is paying off. If they don't negotiate, North Vietnam may fade out and leave the field to the defender.

HOUSE-BUILDERS' BONANZA

This will be good news for diaper manufacturers, contractors and the home products industries, though it may give some population experts a chill in their bones:

Mothers of the near future indicate they are going in for larger families—three or more children—according to a nationwide survey of recently married couples, all under 26 years old.

The survey, by the Armstrong Cork Company, disclosed that nine out of 10 of the couples planned to buy or build a home and that one-third hoped to do so within the next 24 months.

Other findings in the poll gave this picture of affluent America, dwelling-wise: More than nine out of 10 new homes today have three or more bedrooms and more than half have two or more baths and an attached garage.

The majority have built-in appliances, with air conditioning in every fifth house. There is a family room in seven out of 10 new homes and a patio on nearly half the properties.

The living area in the average home has increased in the last 10 years from 1,156 to 1,430 square feet and the selling price during 1966—close to $20,000—was about 50 per cent above the 1956 figure.

SCENIC ROADS AND PARKWAYS

With the first day of spring only days ahead, the thoughts of bureaucrats as well as those who are young in heart are turning to the great outdoors and what they can provide in the way of beauty and recreation to a mobile people.

How eager state and Federal agencies are for the development of scenic roads and parkways is seen in the recommendations received by the Commerce Department. These agencies urged that 136,500 road miles be set aside as scenic roads and parkways at a cost of $18.7 billion. That would be more than three times the 41,000-mile interstate highway system.

The department recommended the development of 54,411 miles of scenic roads and parkways, choosing four out of every five of these designated miles to be existing

THE FOREIGN AFFAIRS ISSUES OF 1968

The effort of most of the correspondents who are covering Governor George Romney of Michigan in his political travels is to smoke him out on what he would recommend in Vietnam now. But the military phases of the Vietnamese War may not be the issue in 1968. By then a whole new series of international troubles may have presented themselves.

For example, the 1968 Presidential candidate will very likely have to be ready with answers to some quite unforeseeable things in relation to mainland China. We have been cheering the breakdown of Mao Tse-tung's control of Red China, and have been preening ourselves on our luck in the grand split between the Peking and Moscow Communists. But within two years we may be looking at a fragmented China in which Russian Soviet puppet governments shall have seized control in such distant reaches of Asia as Sinkiang and Inner Mongolia, or even Manchuria.

A victory of the "Russian party" in Manchuria would frighten the Japanese, and it would revive ancient fears in Washington, which once insisted on an Open Door in China and on the territorial integrity of the old celestial kingdom. Should the "Russian party" threaten to win the whole of China, thus rounding out a solid bloc from East Berlin to the China Sea, what would U.S. policy be? We can't prop up Mao Tse-tung now; to do so would be ridiculous when his hatred is focused on us in North Vietnam. But, facing the possibility of chaos on the mainland, we should have some understanding about the use of Chiang Kai-shek's disciplined army of 600,000 on Formosa. If the collapse of Mao means that the Soviets are going to make a play for parts of China, we should be ready to play, too.

The problems of China on the day after tomorrow have already begun to concern Richard Nixon, I am told by the people close to him. Well, Nixon, far more than any other potential Republican Presidential candidate, has a feeling for foreign affairs. If I were George Romney I would begin looking past Vietnam to the postwar world, and considering the things that are now engaging his most likely rival, Richard Nixon.

If the Russians are to emerge top-dog in China, they will have covered their eastern front. But what of their southern front? Britain, by 1968, will be far along in its program of withdrawal from the Middle East. But political nature abhors a vacuum, and the Soviets are already moving into the regions around the Red Sea. Their pilots helped navigate the troop planes used by Egypt's President Gamal Nasser in Yemen. Soviet experts have been installing surface-to-air missile bases in the Nile valley. Moscow supports Syrian nationalism; it has helped Nasser with the Aswan Dam; it pushes its ties in Algeria; and it could be ready, by devious methods, to move its own stooges into the old British base at Aden.

Republicans, now rushing to play along with the Johnson Administration in building those bridges to eastern Europe, may, by 1968, discover that "co-existence" by no means covers the world outside the limited area reaching from East Germany and Poland to Bulgaria. The 1968 Republican Presidential candidate should have answers to the probability that Moscow regards co-existence as something all too narrowly selective. The probability is that foreign affairs will form the biggest issues in the 1968 campaign even though domestic housekeeping problems are still with us. Such things as air pollution, car safety, even urban renewal and slum elimination, do not size up as "gut issues" in a national election. By 1968 we should be in the middle of a farm boom, for government surpluses of wheat, corn, and other stockpiled commodities are running out. Farm problems in 1968 will revolve around a critical shortage of farm labor, according to the American Farm Bureau's President Charles B. Shuman. With farm prosperity we can't very well have a big recession in other markets. And, by the time 1968 rolls around, Detroit will probably be in the midst of an automobile recovery.

In order to win both a nomination and an election, a Republican Presidential aspirant must have foreign policy credibility. But it will have to be of the immediate moment in 1967. (Copyright, 1967, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

'Floaters' in Eyes Do Not Interfere with Vision

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I have spots that seem to float before my right eye. Is there any cure for this?

A—Practically everyone at one time or another sees these floaters. They are the shadows of loose cells that are lodged in the jellylike mass in back of the lens. They may appear as dark spots or as a chain of dark rims with clear centers. Although they are annoying at times they don't interfere with your vision and, since there is no way to get rid of them, most people learn to disregard them.

Q—Is there any treatment for a detached retina?

A—Detached retinas have been successfully treated by causing adhesions between the retina and the inner wall of the eyeball. This has been accomplished by electrocoagulation, the use of a subfreezing probe and, experimentally, by whirling the victim at high speed in a centrifuge.

Q—Would hardening of the arteries cause blurred vision?

A—There are many causes of blurred vision. Hardening of the arteries in the retina is one possibility; arthritis is not.

Q—My doctor says I have meibomitis in both eyes. Is this serious?

A—The Meibomian glands are small glands in the upper and lower eyelids near the lid margin. A cyst in one of these glands is called a chalazion. Inflammation of these glands without any blocking of their ducts is treated by expressing the gland's secretions and applying yellow oxide of mercury ointment. The condition usually clears up after several days of this treatment.

Q—What is the cause and treatment of blepharitis?

A—Inflammation of the eyelids is associated with chronic conjunctivitis. It may be caused by uncorrected farsightedness or astigmatism or by irritating cosmetics applied to the eyelashes. The disease is often hard to cure. The lids should be kept free of crusts and scales and yellow oxide ointment should be applied every night.

Q—My eye doctor says that I have vertical imbalance in my left eye. He says that glasses will not help this condition. What do you think?

A—Sometimes this imbalance can be corrected by prescribed exercises with prisms, and sometimes including a prism in your prescription for glasses helps. Much would depend on the degree of imbalance and how much it bothers you.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

highways. Of these, five per cent would be municipal roads and the rest rural. By these selections, the cost was reduced to $4 billion through 1967.

An expanded program to involve 97,000 miles of scenic roads and parkways was outlined for another day. It would cost $18.7 billion.

As Americans get more time for recreation in the reduced working time that automation promises, these scenic roads and parkways will be more and more used. Time will not be so important then and people will be able to take time to look around and enjoy the beauty around them.

Washington News

WASHINGTON (NEA)—

Those who argue for the "luck or the draw" lottery—a blindfolded man pulling names or numbers by chance or a roulette wheel approach—forget Selective Service has a "lottery" now.

Liability is based on date of birth. This is as much a matter of chance as anything you are likely to get in this world. It is almost impossible these days to falsify a birth date.

Since the system calls basically for inducting liable men in a straightforward fashion, beginning with age 25 and moving down, oldest first, no one can juggle the order of call.

Removed of course are the exempt, the deferred and the men who don't pass the tests. Delinquents, men whose deferments have run out, some married men without children and others come in special categories.

Some lottery men argue against so many deferments. But whether there are more deferments or fewer or none at all has nothing to do with a lottery. All Congress would have to do would be to change the qualifications for deferment.

There is more fairness and certainty in this lottery by date of birth than in any other system of chance. The young man knows where he stands in line because he can check at what age men are currently being called.

Of course, the young man doesn't know whether he will be called or not—or at exactly what age—well in advance. But no luck-of-the-draw lottery of itself will tell him those things either.

The proponents of such a lottery say it will. They would call for drawings. Those who "escape" won't be called ever. This assumes the Department of Defense knows how many men the armed forces will need for years in the future, how many men will enlist and re-enlist voluntarily at that time and how many men will fail to pass their physical and mental tests.

If the Defense Department had this kind of a crystal ball, young men under the present system, too, would be able to tell where they stood well in advance with a greater degree of certainty. A lottery would make things more uncertain by adding another complication to the birth-date order.

The proponents of the luck-of-the-draw lottery say that if Selective Service had such a lottery at 18 or 19, then the "older" men—the men who had passed that lottery age—would know that lottery age—They could plan for the future.

Again this assumes the Pentagon will know its needs years in advance. A lottery won't determine how many men the Army or the Navy or Air Force will have to have.

Be that as it may, men over 19 would still have as much certainty under the present system as under a lottery by draw if the youngest liable men were called first instead of the oldest under 26.

The problem of what age to call first is a separate problem. The Defense Department, the Congress and the people of this nation will have to decide what they want. It has nothing to do with whether there's a lottery.

If Selective Service drew capsules out of a fish bowl and picked the 24-year-olds first, there would be the same uncertainty as now among the 19-year-olds.

Whatever system is used, there won't be certainty. War and peace are uncertain things. These days there's a great deal of fuzziness between cold war, hot war, little war and guerrilla war periods. From year to year it is exceedingly difficult to predict how many men the armed forces will need to call.

Severe Defeat Seen for U.S. As Well as CIA in Exposure

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Evidence is beginning to mount that those people who started to publicize CIA operations and criticize its practices didn't help the cause of the United States in its battle against Communist imperialism.

On the surface, it looked like a natural thing for some youngster in the ranks of a student organization to attract attention to himself by demanding an end to CIA subsidies of his group. No thought was given, however, to the consequences of the exposure. Some newspaper dispatches created the impression that something unethical and improper had been done by the government of the United States.

War, of course, is unethical in itself. Thus, to try to prevent war by finding out what the enemy is doing involves surreptitious detective work and it is essential. But there are some critics who can say that even this in an invasion of somebody else's privacy.

Realistically speaking, the damage now has been done. The CIA has been given a body blow which can interfere with its effectiveness in future years. Throughout the world, where there are many intelligence systems, officials have watched with dismay and surprise the manner in which America's intelligence organization is being thwarted in its efforts to combat the Soviet operations in different parts of the world.

An intelligence officer who represents the United States in some foreign countries had this to say recently to a representative of "U.S. News & World report": "The U.S. not just the CIA, suffered a severe defeat in this thing."

"The U.S. still must fight to prevent the Communists from having all their own way in international meetings of students—or teachers, or scientists, or journalists, labor unions, whatever. But now that the CIA cover has been 'blown,' the job will cost much more. And it will take a long time before any U.S. organization or group can regain the effectiveness that the National Student Association had."

"These students were not instructed how to act, except in a very few cases. Main reliance was on the American instincts and patriotism of almost all the students who were financially helped to attend."

Little did the Americans who criticized the CIA, both inside and outside of Congress, realize perhaps how penetrating is the Communist influence in Latin America, where at any moment trouble can be stirred up which can involve the United States in more wars. What is happening, too, in the eastern bloc of Communist countries in Europe is an example of how difficult it is for the United States to "build bridges" with those countries. Despite all the outward appearance of a growing friendliness and the talk about the advantages of consular treaties, the Warsaw government deliberately denied former Vice President Nixon a visa to enter Poland.

Unfortunately, some members of the American press did not take into account the damage they were doing their own government in the kind of publicity they gave to the exposure of the CIA subsidies to student organizations. The impression conveyed was that the United States government was subsidizing travel abroad to students within the United States and attempting to interfere with their operations in this country.

Actually, the Central Intelligence Agency has no authority or jurisdiction over anything that happens within the United States. The whole purpose of the CIA is to get information from foreign countries and to help American students who travel abroad to present the American point of view and learn what the Communist imperialists are saying and doing in student gatherings.

Now that student organizations have been held up to public criticism, doubtless these same youth groups will find more difficulties abroad. They will be suspected of representing the government, and they will have a problem in trying to prove that they are independent of governmental influence and subsidies. All this could have been avoided if the CIA had been given in a "cold war" operation the same patriotic support that a military force receives at all times.

Find LBJ Public Image Now in Middleground

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, going through three phases in his public relations since taking over the White House in 1963, was hit on a cool, middle-ground where he is likely to stay.

He was fiercely driving and ebullient at first, so obviously anxious to be liked he looked awkward; then he became so reticent he almost disappeared from view; now he plays it straight and dead-end.

Third Role Helps

This third role has helped him. That's why he will probably maintain it until the end of his presidency, whether it's in 1969 or 1973.

Johnson was a man of lunning energy, an arm-around-the-shoulder kind of man, who tried to get things done amicably in his six years as Democratic leader in the Senate.

That he was politically ambitious then, with his eyes on the White House, became plain when he tried for it in 1960.

He didn't say much on the Senate floor in his leadership days there, which was contrary to his nature. In private he talked a torrent. But he did his talking and persuading with the temperamental senators behind the scenes.

He wanted to get along, to be liked. It was one of the best ways to get things done in the Senate where his achievements were later to be the foundation for his bid for the presidency.

Became Best Leader

In the process he became the best Senate leader in his century, perhaps in American history. For a while after President John F. Kennedy's death, Johnson was rather muted.

But when he got adjusted to his new job, he became his old Senate self, although there was a difference in the way he worked. The White House job required public appearances and pronouncements and, by way of television, direct relations with the whole country. In that situation there was no place for the arm-around-the-shoulders system.

He was awkward, particularly on television where his gestures, his facial expressions and even his rhetoric looked and sounded like a child's.

He compounded his problem by appearing impetuous at times, as, for instance, in his repeated appearances on television to explain American involvement in the Dominican Republic revolt. Gradually, his standing in the public opinion polls went down, although the Vietnam war helped do that.

Results Questionable

Last summer it seemed questionable he could win re-election in 1968. His Democrats badly needed help in the 1966 election campaigns but he made relatively few campaign trips or speeches for them.

There was even this kind of "rueful" political talk. If he did campaign for the Democrats, he would be a liability

Just as the campaign heated up he withdrew himself by making a trip to the Far East for about 17 days.

The country did not realize it at the time but this was the beginning of Johnson's withdrawal into silence. When he returned, although there were still a few days for speeches, he disappeared from view again with the explanation that he needed surgery.

But he wasn't operated upon until eight days after the election, in which the Democrats took a beating. Then, after the hospital stay Johnson withdrew to Texas and stayed there almost entirely to year's end.

Change Noted

His first return to full view was a televised news conference Dec. 31. He was a changed man.

Gone were the gestures, the look. He performed straight-faced, and has done so ever since.

The first thought in mind in watching the new Johnson is that he has been well-coached by experts in his public appearances. His aides deny it. But the new style has shown results. The old style has died down.

And he seems far less compelled to mount the barricades against such criticism as he does get.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, March 9, the 68th day of 1967. There are 297 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1862, during the Civil War, the Union ironclad "Monitor" met the Confederate ironclad, "Virginia," better known as the "Merrimack" near Hampton Roads, Va. They fired at each other for hours, their shells damaging but not piercing the armor plate. Finally, the "Virginia," seeing no hope for victory, broke contact and sailed away.

On this date

In 1796, Napoleon Bonaparte married Josephine.

In 1829, the postmaster general was made a member of the President's Cabinet.

In 1943, the Royal Air Force bombed Munich, Germany.

In 1945, the Allied forces were expanding the bridgehead across the Rhine at Remagen.

In 1947, the pioneer suffragette, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, died at 88.

Twenty years ago — President Dwight D. Eisenhower signed a Senate-revised version of the Eisenhower doctrine for the Middle East.

Five years ago — A coal mine explosion in Meesun, West Germany, took the lives of 31 miners.

One year ago — Disregarding a warning from President Johnson, France said it was going "head with plans to pull out of the military command structure of NATO."

Congress Nears Brink on Action For Conduct Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Adam Clayton Powell case is pushing Congress to the brink of drafting meaningful rules to police its own conduct.

To date, more than 75 bills proposing ethical standards for representatives have been introduced in the House, most of them born in the controversy stirred by the high-flying Harlem preacher.

There were many last year, too. But they got nowhere.

Still other bills have been introduced in the Senate. There, a special ethics committee — set up after revelations of the wheeling and dealing of Bobby Baker — is investigating allegations that Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., converted to personal use funds raised for him at campaign and testimonial dinners. Dodd denies the charges.

The drive for some sort of ethical guidelines is being spurred on by an outpouring of words from members worried about growing public suspicion of the moral climate in Congress.

Chairman William M. Colmer, D-Miss., said Wednesday the House Rules Committee hopes to make a recommendation next week on what sort of committee should police ethics.

New Command

NORTH KINGSTON, R.I. (AP) — Capt. Van Eason Jr., former commander of the aircraft carrier Hornet, is the new skipper of the aircraft carrier Essex.

Eason replaced Capt. Edwin C. Dankworth Jr., who had held the post only three months.

The Essex ran aground on a sandbar near Puerto Rico last month, necessitating minor repairs. A Navy spokesman said a board of inquiry convened after the incident had requested that Dankworth be relieved.

Witnesses Observe 170 Killed at Fatshan

HONG KONG (AP) — At least 170 people were killed or wounded during clashes between Red Guards loyal to Mao Tse-tung and county officials at Fatshan, near Canton, arrivals from Red China reported today.

The travelers said the most serious clash occurred last Friday when 2,000 Red Guards besieged a Communist party committee office building where about 700 officials were working.

After a lengthy argument, according to the reports, the officials closed all doors and windows of the building.

The Red Guards eventually smashed the doors and windows and physically subdued the officials and placed them under house arrest," one traveler said.

Wall posters next day reported about 170 people were killed or injured, the sources said.

The travelers said the Red Guards set up kangaroo courts on Sunday and tried Fatshan's Vice Mayor Tsang Kok and several other officials on charges of being "anti-party anti-Socialist bourgeois counterrevolutionaries."

Other arrivals reported another clash between Red Guards and factory workers occurred Sunday at Fatshan. They said the number of casualties was not known.

One traveler said a "huge" bomb was discovered on the Fatshan highway Saturday and was removed by army troops.

Action Launched To Force House To Seat Powell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorneys for Adam Clayton Powell have launched court action aimed at forcing the House to seat him, while the Harlem Democrat starts his own campaign to win back the seat in a special election.

A suit filed Wednesday in U.S. District Court here charged that Powell's constitutional rights were violated by last week's House vote barring him from taking the seat to which he was elected.

The suit asked a preliminary injunction ordering Powell's immediate seating and a permanent injunction to prevent House Speaker John W. McCormack from refusing to give Powell the oath of office.

The court petition was signed by Powell and 13 others, including civil rights leader A. Philip Randolph, Percy E. Sutton, Manhattan borough president and Hulan Jack, former borough president.

'Who's He?': Adam

On the Bahamian island of Bimini, the fishing retreat where Powell has remained during most of the controversy, he spoke derisively of the man selected by New York Republicans to run against him in the special election — James H. Meredith, first Negro enrolled in the University of Mississippi. "Meredith, who is he?" asked the debonair preacher-politician at a Bimini news conference. "I don't know Meredith." He said Meredith would not be a "formidable" opponent. Powell added he doesn't plan to campaign in person in Harlem.

The head of the Congress for Racial Equality pledged political retribution against those who voted for the ouster.

Lettuce Cheap, But Also May Be Costly for Some

NEW YORK (AP)—Let them eat lettuce.

Lots of it. That is the plea of farmers in California's Imperial Valley and Arizona's adjoining Yuma Valley.

The weather has been ideal, the crop excellent, and green leaves are piling up in supermarkets at low prices.

It is good news for everyone but the farmer, and points up one of the problems of food prices.

The 800 lettuce growers in the Imperial Valley may lose $21 million on the crop, estimates the Western Growers Association in Los Angeles.

Lettuce currently is selling for about 4 cents a head or $1 a carton harvested, trimmed, packed and delivered to shipping points. The association estimates growers must make $1.75 just to break even.

More than 1,000 acres have been abandoned without a head being cut.

"It is time the housewife was told bluntly that she can't expect food to be cheap while the cost of raising, processing and selling it keeps going up," said Robert L. Gibson, president of the California Cannery and Growers.

"I have vet to see a consumer's ticket line in front of an automobile dealership or a clothing store or a ski lift."

The militant national farmers organization is trying to bring meat and milk supplies more closely into balance with demand, urging members to sell bred cows and sows.

If it works, the number of calves and pigs this spring may be cut sharply enough to raise meat prices this fall. Milk supplies also may be withheld in the months ahead.

About Still Topic

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A proposal to liberalize the state's abortion law may be dead in this session of the Legislature, but it remains the subject of lively discussion among legislators.

Assemblyman Albert H. Blumenthal D-Manhattan, chief sponsor of the measure which was killed Tuesday by the Assembly Codes Committee, and Assemblymen John H. Terry and Joseph Kotler kept the issue verbally alive Wednesday. Blumenthal asked that a study committee be appointed by Gov. Rockefeller or the Legislature's leaders to continue review of the 84-year-old statute.

He added that the Legislature shared a "responsibility to the people of the state" to "understand the issue."

At that point, Republican Terrv of Syracuse, made a speech in which he condemned the abortion proposal, and included references to the slaughter of Jews in Nazi Germany before and during World War II.

Reveals Finances

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Richard D. McCarthy, D-N.Y., would have fellow Congressmen do as he does — make public a complete report of their private and political finances.

McCarthy issued a report on his finances Wednesday, then proposed that all Congressmen do likewise. His measure would require all members of Congress to make public their incomes, financial holdings, directorships, business affiliations and other financial information.

McCarthy, who is from Buffalo, listed personal assets of $32,000. He said his 1966 income was $31,995, of which $30,000 was his congressional salary.

The representative owns a house in Buffalo, from which he said he derives $1,620 annually in rent, and one in Bethesda, Md. McCarthy said he had a total equity of $14,000 in the two properties.

McCarthy was public relations director for the National Gypsum Co. before he was elected to Congress in 1964. He said he does not have any private business interest now.

Spits Up Bullet

SPRINGVILLE, N. Y. (AP)—A 27-year-old truck-driver, who was shot in the chest at point-blank range and coughed up the bullet two weeks later, "has an angel on his shoulder," his physician says.

This is the way Philip Reidel's doctor explained how the bullet apparently moved from the patient's lung to the bronchial tube where it was coughed up.

Reidel, of this community south of Buffalo, told his story Wednesday.

He and his buddy stopped to eat in a small East Chicago, Ind., restaurant on Jan. 28. Reidel, the father of three, recalled hearing a ruckus take place in front of the restaurant. As he stood by the cash register to pay his check, Reidel said he brushed against one of two men and said, "I'm sorry."

Moments later he was shot in the chest. Reidel was taken to an East Chicago hospital where he learned a .22 caliber bullet had lodged in his right lung. Doctors said it was too dangerous to operate.

Boatman Safety Course Due Here

New York State's new Young Boatman's Safety Course will be taught in Chambers School beginning March 14, 7:30 p. m.

The course, sponsored by the Conservation Department's Division of Motor Boats, will be taught locally by U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary.

New York State's revised Navigation Law now requires youngsters between the ages of 10 to 14 to acquire a safety certificate before they may lawfully operate a mechanically-propelled boat alone on State waters.

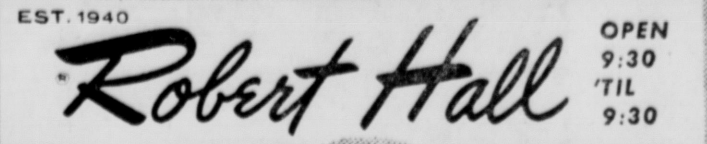

Youngsters may qualify for their safety certificate by taking the Young Boatman's Safety Course and passing the examination given at the end of the course.

The course consists of four basic units and is designed to be taught in one-hour sessions. All course material will be furnished free to both the youngsters taking the course and the instructors.

Plan books, work books and flip charts, all graphically illustrating basic safety requirements and precautions, will be used in teaching the course. The charts will be based on a boating safety handbook entitled "Make Sure—Make Shore."

Youngsters wishing to take the course may enroll at the Chambers School on March 14.

Rocky, Lindsay Solution Saves 20 Cent Fare

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York City "straphangers" appeared assured today that their 20-cent transit fare would remain in effect indefinitely under a complicated compromise plan worked out by Gov. Rockefeller and Mayor John V. Lindsay to merge mass transportation facilities.

Rockefeller unveiled the plan Wednesday in a message to the Legislature, urging approval of a measure that would place the city's subways, buses and Long Island and New Haven commuter railroads under a new Metropolitan Transportation Authority.

Agree on Concept

The governor and the mayor, both Republicans, agreed that the new concept would allow for the legal transfer of city, state and federal monies to provide the necessary subsidy to maintain the present fare structure. Under the proposal, the city could divert capital funds to the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority which, in turn, could use its surplus funds to help defray the expenses of operating the deficit-ridden subway system. This would assure maintenance of the 20-cent fare.

The consolidation plan was greeted warmly by Lindsay, who said at City Hall that it provides a method "by which the present fare can be maintained indefinitely."

The new authority would serve as a holding company under which the Transit Authority, Long Island Railroad, Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority and the Manhattan & Bronx Surface Transit Operating Authority would operate as separate entities. In this manner, the governor hopes to alleviate any fears of labor unions that the proposed consolidation would eliminate jobs.

9 Members

The new super agency would be made up of nine members who also would serve as a board of directors of the Triborough, the Transit Authority and the Metropolitan Commuter Transportation Authority, which owns the Long Island Railroad. The New Haven Railroad eventually would be embraced in the new agency, Rockefeller said. Robert Moses, current chairman of the three-member Tri-

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Golden Age of Spanish culture lasted an even 100 years, from 1550 to 1650, says The World Almanac. Called in Spanish El Siglo de Oro, the period produced such famous writers as Cervantes, who wrote "Don Quixote," and Lope de Vega who turned out some 700 dramas. Also during this time, El Greco, Murillo and Velasquez painted their masterpieces and the Jesuit priest, Suarez, wrote his widely read books on law and philosophy.

Despite Denials Solons See Rockefeller as Candidate

By CHARLES DUMAS
ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Veteran politicians in the Legislature are wondering openly whether Gov. Rockefeller might still be interested in running for president after all.

Their speculation is based on the Republican governor's free-wheeling and rather spectacular performance during the current legislative session.

Different Attitude
A few months ago, the same people were inclined to accent Rockefeller's oft-repeated vow that he never again would seek the presidency.

But, since the New Year dawned, marking the beginning of his third term as governor, they have watched with wide eyes while he:

— Proposed a $2.5-billion bond issue, the largest in state history, to finance a massive program designed to streamline the state's transportation network — with special emphasis on solving the mass-transit problems plaguing the New York metropolitan area.

— Recommended that New York enact a compulsory health insurance program that would provide protection to nearly all employed persons. New York thus would become the first state in the nation to do so.

— Produced out of the blue a major program in which state agencies would team with private industry for an $8-billion expansion of electric power facilities, keyed to development of nuclear power.

Each of these ambitious proposals was unveiled by the governor with the loudest possible fanfare, as if — some say — he was trying to invite the attention not only of the state but of the whole nation to his efforts.

These developments have been all the more thought-provoking in the Legislature, because the word had been passed late last year that this would be basically a mark-time legislative session.

The lawmakers had been told the governor had concluded he might have tried to go too far too soon with previous programs and was in a mood to consolidate gains rather than take big new strides into space.

Not Robust
Besides, it was pointed out, the state treasury was not robust enough at the moment to bear any new burdens.

Rockefeller's big new programs are consistent with the fiscal realities, since bond borrowing is the basis of the transportation plan and since private industry would pay most of the freight on the power expansion. The compulsory insurance proposal actually could ease the tight fiscal picture a bit by cutting back Medicaid costs.

But the fact remains that Rockefeller once again is paint-

Conn. Dean Named Alfred President

ALFRED, N. Y. (AP) — Dr. Leland Miles, 43, dean of the college of arts and sciences at the University of Bridgeport in Connecticut, has been elected president of Alfred University, it was announced today.

He will become the university's tenth president Aug. 1, succeeding Dr. M. Ellis Drake, who will retire after 19 years as head of the 110-year-old co-ed institution.

Miles, a native of Baltimore, Md., a graduate of Juniata College at Huntingdon, Pa., began his 18 years in education in 1949 as an associate professor of English at Hanover College in Indiana. He later was on the faculty at the University of Cincinnati before becoming dean at Bridgeport in 1964.

Faces Horror Chamber

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A 17-year-old motorist accused of reckless driving had his $50 fine suspended. Then he was introduced to the Chamber of Horrors.

That's the description Traffic Judge George J. Long applies to his photos of drivers killed or injured in auto accidents. Long's idea is to impress young people of the dangers of speeding and other moving violations.

Dear Abby . . .

Walking to School Will Solve Problem

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My daughter (I'll call her Linda) goes to high school and her first class begins at 7:55 a. m. Her father drives her as he goes right past the school on his way to work.

The problem is my husband. He pokes around so much before he finally gets going that he's made Linda late for school several times. And when she's not late, she barely makes it. Linda gets so nervous and upset she can't keep her breakfast down. I have begged my husband to be more considerate, but every day it's the same story.

I suppose Linda could walk, but it would take her half an hour, and she always has a load of books to carry. Is there a solution?

LINDA'S MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Linda should get to school without her father's uncertain assistance. The walks (even with a load of books) won't hurt her as much as those fretful mornings will. (How does Linda get home?)

DEAR ABBY: My husband owns his own business and he travels over a large territory, which means he must be away from home over the weekend quite often.

He keeps asking me to meet him out of town for the weekend as he gets lonesome for me. Abby, we have three children, 8, 10 and 13, and altho I can always get someone to take care of the children, I have mixed emotions about running off and leaving them just to keep my husband company. What would YOU do?

MIXED EMOTIONS

DEAR MIXED: I would join my husband as often as common sense and practicality allowed. I would rather have someone taking care of my children than my husband.

DEAR ABBY: We have received several wedding invitations with a smaller card included which read as follows:
Mr. and Mrs. — will attend
Number of guests—

The outer envelope was addressed to Mr. and Mrs. J. Smith and the inner envelope was the same.

Is it proper to fill in Mr. and Mrs. Smith plan to attend, and the number of guests is FIVE? (This includes our two children and my husband's mother who makes her home with us.) I say that since there was only Mr. and Mrs. on the envelopes, they want only the two of us.

My husband says that we are allowed as many guests as we wish, and they are asking us to please fill in the number. Who is right?

"TWO OR FIVE"
DEAR TWO: You are. Under no circumstances should invited guests include others without first checking with the hostess. She wants to know whether both you and Mr. Smith will attend. The answer is TWO.

Choir Festival Is Planned For Sunday Night at 7:30

A "Choir Festival" with the churches of the Saugerties area will be held Sunday, March 12 at 7:30 p. m. in the Reformed Church of Saugerties under the sponsorship of the Saugerties Area Council of Churches. The various choirs including the Junior choirs, will sing one of their favorite selections for Lent. They will also sing several combined numbers.

Directing the combined choirs for the festival will be Donald Fellows, director of the church choir of Atone Lutheran Church as well as director of the Catskill Glee Club. Organist will be Howard Houghtaling, director of music at the Reformed Church of Saugerties. Soloist for the combined choirs will be Lewis Gaylord, director of the Saugerties Methodist Church choir.

The final rehearsal for the festival will be held Sunday at 4 p. m. at the Reformed Church of Saugerties. The individual choirs will have the opportunity of final rehearsal of their individual numbers and then will combine in a joint rehearsal of the combined numbers. Each choir member is asked to bring a box lunch for the supper hour at 6 p. m. Beverage and dessert will be served by the Junior High and Senior High Youth Fellowship of the Reformed Church of Saugerties.

The Youth Choir of the Congregational Church of Saugerties will sing "My Redeemer" by P. P. Bliss and "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" by Isaac Watts under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Cole. The Junior High Youth Choir of the Flatbush Reformed Church will sing "The Holy City" and the combined youth choirs will sing "There Is a Green Hill Far Away" under the direction of Mrs. Myron Swart with Mrs. Joseph Matthews as accompanist.

The Junior Choir of the Saugerties Methodist Church will sing "Brother James Air" directed by Lewis Gaylord. The Junior Choir of the Reformed Church of Saugerties will sing the selection entitled, "Men and Children Everywhere." An arrangement of an ancient Hebrew melody directed by Miss Isabel Tubbs.

The Adult choirs of the various churches will include a selection by the choir of the Blue Mountain Reformed Church entitled, "Hosanna to the King" by A. S. Keib, directed by Mrs. August Praus. The Atone Lutheran Church Choir and the St. Paul's Lutheran Church Choir will unite in singing "Were You There?" arranged by H. T. Burleigh with Miss Barbara Goetz as soloist and Donald Fellows directing. The Reformed Church of Saugerties Choir will sing the anthem entitled, "Bow Down Thy Ear by Parker" under the direction of Howard Houghtaling. The Melodians Sextet will sing the Silesian Folk Song entitled, "Beautiful Savior."

All choirs will combine under the direction of Fellows with Houghtaling at the organ in the selection "Could Ye Not Watch With Me?" from "The Crucifixion" by J. S. Stainer. The final number, which will lead from Lent into Palm Sunday, is entitled, "Ride On! Ride On In Majesty!" as arranged by George B. Nevin. Junior Choirs will form an echo choir for this selection.

Members of the community are invited to attend this second Choir Festival to hear the inspirational music of the church choirs of the area. The various ministers of the churches will participate in the processional into the church with the choirs.

Reformed Church

Services at the Reformed Church of Saugerties will be at 9:45 a. m. and 11 a. m. with the minister, the Rev. Orville J. Hine, preaching on "The Fulfillment of Life."

Girl Scouts will be welcomed at the 11 a. m. service which they will attend as a group under the leadership of Mrs. Bertrand Hall. In order to process into the church the Girl Scouts are asked to meet in the parish hall at 10:45 a. m. with their leaders.

Plans are being made at the Reformed Church for the receiving of new members. Adults will be welcomed at the service Palm Sunday, March 19. Persons considering church membership are invited to communicate with the pastor so that arrangements may be made. The 9th Grade young people who have been attending the confirmation class will be received into the church on Pentecost Sunday, which this year comes May 14.

Sunday church school meets regularly at 9:45 a. m. simultaneously with the early church service. Boys and girls in the fifth grade and above attend the first portion of the church service and then go to their classes. The nursery, kindergarten, and primary children meet in the Chapel on John Street at 9:45 a. m. for their individual sessions with the primary grades.

Parents with little children who desire to attend the 11 a. m. service are invited to use the nursery which is maintained by the church in the chapel on John Street from 11 a. m. to noon.

The Adult discussion group that has been led by the pastor will have its last session Wednesday, March 15 at 7:30 p. m. in the Parish Hall. All adults who are interested in the background of the Reformed Church and its early days in the Hudson Valley are invited to attend this session.

The Junior choir under the direction of Miss Isabel Tubbs will meet at 9 a. m. Sunday and the senior choir will meet at 8 p. m. Thursday. Confirmation class will meet Wednesday at 2 p. m. under the leadership of the pastor. Junior Girl Scouts will meet Tuesday at 6:15 p. m. in the parish hall.

Nursery Group Adds Fish for Aquarium

In order to select more fish for the classroom aquarium, members of the Community Day Nursery School with their teacher, Mrs. Lunn, and several mothers made another trip to the Cellar Shop of Russell Street, Saugerties. A heater was purchased and the children chose quite an assortment of fish either because of the fascinating colors or different shapes. Among the other displays that attracted much attention from the younger set were the large goldfish pond, canaries, hamsters and the alligator.

The opportunity to observe at first-hand and closely what, at first arouses casual interest, is so important to young children. A variety of stimulating experiences such as those offered by a nursery school program, enriches their childhood and helps to develop their interests.

DAR GOOD CITIZEN—Colleen Buono this week was named the winner of the annual DAR Good Citizen Award. Miss Buono (right) is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Buono of Glasco. Presenting the award certificate is Mrs. Genevieve Nieffer, regent of Saugerties Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

HONOR ESSAY WINNERS—Two Saugerties young ladies this week were named American History Month Essay Contest winners by Saugerties Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. They are Cindy Mooers, (center) daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mooers of Barclay Heights, first place Sixth Grade, and Melinda Crantek daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Crantek of Flatbush first place Fifth Grade. Mrs. Genevieve Nieffer, (left) DAR regent makes the presentations.

Baptist Church

The annual church business meeting will be held tonight at 7:30 at the First Baptist Church of Saugerties.

Friday, 8 p. m., YAMS Class will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bjorkman. This is a social hour for young adults, married and single.

Sunday, 9:05 a. m., Wonderful Word broadcast over WGHQ. The pastor, the Rev. Brooks N. Henry, will continue a series of studies on the Sermon on the Mount. At 9:45 a. m., Sunday school is held with classes for all ages. Cradle Roll through Adult. At 11 a. m., worship service is held. Pastor will speak on "The Key Hangs at the Door."

Beginner and Primary Church are held during the sermon period. A nursery is also provided. At 6 p. m., Berean Youth Fellowship. This is a training hour for all Junior and Senior High School young people. At 7 p. m., evening service. The pastor will speak on "The Challenge of a Believer's Witness" (studies from the Book of Daniel).

At 8:10 p. m., choir rehearsal. Monday, 7 p. m., Pioneer Girls. Tuesday, 7 p. m., Christian Service Brigade. Wednesday, 7:45

Sheriff to Address

Highland P-TA Group

Sheriff William B. Martin will be guest speaker at the Highland P-TA on Monday, March 13, program "Drugs and Their Effects." The meeting will be held at the Highland Junior-Senior High School, Pancake Hollow Road. The meeting is for adults only.

Sheriff Martin will discuss, "Why Police are Interested in Preventing Use of Narcotics." Lieut. Lemuel Howard of the Kingston Police Department, will show a display and film, "What to Look For" and will discuss "How Narcotics are Used." The Rev. Charles J. Koerber, CSSR, of New York City will discuss, "Diagnosis, Treatment and After-care of Narcotic Addicts." Mrs. James Farrell, executive director of Motivational Guidance Association of Brooklyn, will discuss "What Is Being Done on Rehabilitation."

At the request of Sheriff Martin, the Highland P-TA cordially invites all local organizations of Highland, Milton and Marlboro to attend the meeting.

Finalize Plans For Holy Name Night March 18

The Rev. Joseph F. Hamilton, moderator of St. Mary of the Snow Holy Name Society, has announced that final arrangements have been made for the annual St. Patrick's Night Show sponsored by the society.

This year's show will feature a variety of talent including vocal, instrumental specialties, dancing, and choral selections. The Mad Hadders, a popular band in this area, will be the opening act of the 10-act show scheduled for Saturday, March 18, at 8 p. m. in the Roger Donlon Auditorium. The committee has selected Joe DiDomenico to be master of ceremonies. Bob Schnell is talent coordinator and Bud Smith, chairman of the journal committee.

Tickets are available from any Holy Name Member or by contacting Bill McCormick, ticket chairman.

This annual event, which has always been successful in the past, seems to be headed in that same direction this year. Due to the limited seating capacity of the auditorium, tickets will be sold on a first come first served basis.

Charged as Deserter

Ronald Wesley Tyler of Tilton, who had been absent from the army for 30 days, was arrested by Ulster County Investigator Harold T. Bowers and an FBI agent at Tilton on a charge of being a deserter. He was turned over to military authorities and returned to Fort Dix, N. J.

Students Bolt Resnick's Talk, Quiz Cut Short

IBADAN, Nigeria (AP) — About 100 Ibadan University students noisily walked out of a lecture on Vietnam by an American congressman Wednesday night when question time was cut short.

With scores of students waving their arms for recognition the student chairman said he would accept only one more question.

About two-thirds of the 150 persons present rose, scraping their chairs loudly enough to drown out the last questioner.

The students had asked six questions in 20 minutes of Joseph Y. Resnick, a New York Democrat, who is touring Nigeria discussing the Vietnam war.

The questions challenged Resnick's support of the American position. He compared the Vietnam situation to Ethiopia's appeals for help against Italian invaders in 1936.

He said if other countries, including developing nations, did not support the United States effort in Vietnam, Congress might cut American foreign aid.

"There is even a question whether foreign aid will pass at all," said Resnick, who represents New York's 28th district.

"Instead of being commended, we are being condemned for our role in Vietnam."

Later the chairman, Osa Usame, publicly offered for the student union, he closed the questioning because it was time for the evening meal.

Note Newburgh Pilot In Viet Air Strike

SAIGON (AP) — "We were hitting 65 feet from the friendly troops, and we were told our bombs were very effective and helped repel the enemy attack," said Capt. Frederick H. Dimeo of Cocoa Beach, Fla. He was describing a U.S. Air Force strike in War Zone C northwest of Saigon Wednesday.

Dimeo, a B57 Canberra flight leader, said his planes were flying air cover for a U.S. Army convoy when another convoy was attacked by an unknown sized enemy force.

The planes swept in on the enemy and drove the Viet Cong away. Other pilots in Dimeo's flight were Maj. Leslie R. Wilcox Jr., from Newburgh, N.Y., and Capt. John R. Wojohn, from Eau Claire, Wis.

Crews Continue Snow Removal

Snow removal forces in the city and county today continued digging out from under the 14-inch snowfall of Tuesday.

City crews from the Department of Public Works this morning picked up huge piles of snow along Fair Street and then planned to pick up snow in the up-town business district and the municipal parking lots.

A spokesman for the Department of Public Works said the snow is being carted to and dumped at the Municipal Stadium. Work will continue through the day and plows were being used this afternoon to push snow back on side streets.

An employee of the County Highway Department said highways were scraped and hard-packed snow was cleared yesterday afternoon, and salt and sand was spread along the main traffic arteries. A department spokesman said crews were assigned to pick up piles of snow on streets and roads in the communities of Phoenixia, Rosendale and Woodstock this morning.

Plows and scrapers were in operation on main highways in the county pushing snow back on the shoulders of the roads. This work will continue throughout the day.

World News In Brief

Irish Food Crisis

DUBLIN (AP) — Talks between striking farmers' representatives and the government resumed today amid public concern that Ireland's capital city is rapidly running out of basic foods.

The strike for bigger government subsidies, now in its fourth day, produced some violence Wednesday night. Five hundred irate farmers crashed through a police cordon and belted the automobile of George Colley, minister for industry and commerce. He jumped out and fled into a hotel.

Though the talks continued, the farmers remained on strike. This meant no meat or vegetable deliveries to Dublin, and most shops were bare.

Ask Visiting Privileges

TOKYO (AP) — The United States has asked the Japanese government if the nuclear-powered merchant ship Savannah can visit Japan in June during her farewell voyage, the foreign ministry reported today.

Ministry spokesman Kinva Niiseki said the request was being studied. He said the government wants assurance the ship won't threaten Japan with nuclear contamination.

It was believed the government would approve the visit. Japan plans to construct a nuclear-powered ship in 1969.

The Savannah is scheduled for its first Asian voyage this summer before retirement.

On Birth Control

LONDON (AP) — Roman Catholic Archbishop Thomas Roberts said today "it is a thousand pities" Pope Paul VI did not invite representatives of other churches when he set up a birth control commission in 1964.

Dr. Roberts, 73, said in an interview in the interchurch magazine New Christian that the longer doubts about birth control remain unresolved "the more the authority of the church is weakened and her image tarnished in non-Catholic eyes."

Commenting on the Anglican Church's acceptance of contraception, he said: "They had to study the same facts, overcome the same doubts and were certainly inspired by a zeal to discover the truth."

The former archbishop of Bombay has long been a critic of the Roman Catholic Church's attitude toward contraception.

Advanced System In Communications

The investment firm of Loeb, Rhoades & Co., which has a branch office here, inaugurated Tuesday what is believed to be the most advanced communications system in the brokerage industry.

This new concept in computer-communications, designed in cooperation with Western Union and IBM, speeds orders in a matter of seconds directly to the trading floors of both the New York and American Stock Exchanges from any of the 128 Loeb, Rhoades & Co. branch and correspondent offices throughout the United States and Canada.

Installed by Western Union and equipped with the latest solid state controlled teletype devices, this most advanced use of modern electronics technology as applied in the investment brokerage industry comprises a wire system of 55,200 miles and utilizes two IBM Series 360 computers.

The new computer-directed-switching center also instantly routes to Loeb, Rhoades head-over-the-counter quotations and orders as well as inquires to its research, margin, commodity and administration departments.

With this new communications system now in operation, an order placed in any one of the 113 cities serviced by Loeb, Rhoades and its correspondents can be checked for validity and accuracy with maximum electronic reliability, and directed to the proper booth on the exchange floor for immediate action.

The blaze was reported to Kingston firemen by the police department and Engines 1, 2 and 4 along with Truck 1 and the Salvage truck responded.

According to a fire department report the fire started in a polishing machine on the second floor. The machine ignited some heavy dust, began burning and plunged through the floor, landing among some paper cartons. Extensive charring was reported to the ceiling of the first floor before the building's sprinkler system became activated and doused the blaze.

Truck 2 and Engine 3 went to Central Station for coverage while Excelsior went to Wiltwyck. Taps were sounded at 1:14 a. m.

The firemen were under the direction of Chief James Brett and Captain Edwin Murphy.

tually said, it was clearly inferred that the Park is little more than a "bedroom community" for IBM employees, while Glenford is an old, established community which sees little change. Statistics which reflected that Glenford is a "stable" area from which only two families have moved in the past four years. Conversely, it was charged, approximately 20 families have left Maverick Park in only two years.

Such town and gown conflicts have long been part of the educational way of life. "Natives" generally look askance at both the antics of newcomers and the administration. Glenford's present stand, however, bodes higher and more violent ill winds than history. It is the first time in the history of the Ontario system that a boycott has been threatened.

The board remains firm in its belief that it made the "sanest and soundest" solution possible under the circumstances, after intensive soul-searching. Trustees pointed out that, of primary concern, was the staff morale problem at West Hurley School, where administrators and teachers are not at all happy with overcrowded classrooms. Some 19 out of 21 classrooms there, they said, despite the fact that between 15 and 20 pupils per classroom is considered the ideal situation. The change-over to Woodstock is aimed at making a more equitable balance in size of classes.

One suggestion which cropped up from the Glenford camp was to split Maverick Park and put part of it in Woodstock. Board President Philip Gordon answered that if this was done in 1967-68, it would "delineate the line that would move X number of children to provide an equitable class size," and that, by 1968-69, the board would only "have to redelineate the line again." The explanation satisfied few present; several emphasized their children had been shifted more than once and at least five times, and one mother said that, at one point, she had three children in three different schools, one in the first, one in the third and one in the fifth grade.

While the board contends that the school district is so large geographically as to make it impossible to draw a specific line and that the primary concern is what's best for all children in the system, Glenfordites insist they were promised their youngsters would never be moved again after the last bond issue was passed. The board claims no one should have ever promised such pie in the sky and that no new board should be bound by the promises made by an old board.

Still, Glenford cannot reconcile the transporting of its students to Woodstock and ironically notes that the very buses bearing their children to the school in that village will actually pass Maverick Park itself, as well as other buses taking children from the Park to West Hurley. The emotional stability and psychological readjustments necessary for their sons and daughters are their major concerns.

Glenford suggests as better alternatives to its own juggling: Moving Maverick Park is the best solution location-wise and dividing the Park to gain equitable class size is no worse than dividing Glenford.

Temporary classrooms could be put up at West Hurley as has been done at Lake Katrine, to be rented as a temporary measure. The entire sixth grade could be sent to the central building in Boiceville, a shift that would better prepare these students for seventh grade studies there next year.

The big question today is whether the board will accept one of the alternatives or change its position and come up with yet another suggested solution. The answer to a second question seems to be obvious, Glenford, which currently feels unappreciated and unwanted, is expected to remain immovable and unsuayed in its threat to boycott Ontario; refuse to allow its youngsters to board school buses next fall that would transport them to Woodstock instead of West Hurley, now looked upon as the permanent home they feel they are entitled to. As a political unit of Hurley, Glenford's social and educational ties are there also, insisted the more than 50 parents attending Wednesday night's meeting—and there they'll stay short of dynamite.

LOCAL PLANT AT MT. MARION—Ferrocube's principal manufacturing plant on the Mt. Marion Road is comprised of two buildings totaling 130,000 square feet of floor space and offices.

County's Second Largest Industry Plans Open House Event Saturday

Saugerties' largest industry, Ferrocube Corporation of America, which marked its 15th anniversary in September 1965, is holding an open house for its more than 1,000 employees and their families Saturday from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Special guests will be religious, civic, political, business and industrial leaders of the area.

To Acquaint Employees

The announcement made by Harry Ashby, director of industrial relations indicated that the open house was motivated to better acquaint employees and their families with the company's operation.

Ashby said each department will display some of its functions and there will be an opportunity to meet the supervisors of each department who will conduct a guided tour.

Refreshments will be served in the company's cafeteria.

Ferrocube Corporation is the oldest and most experienced independent manufacturer of ferrite-based components in the United States. Founded in 1949 to manufacture the new ferrite materials developed by Philips Lamp NV of the Netherlands, Ferrocube now makes a complete line of ferrite products ranging from linear ferrite devices for use in telecommunications equipment to square-loop memory cores, planes, stacks and transmission systems and recording head assemblies for both analog and digital magnetic recording applications.

Originally, Ferrocube was owned jointly by Sprague Electric and North American Philips, but it was sold in 1959 to Consolidated Electronics Industries, a publicly held, widely diversified company in which North American Philips maintains a substantial interest. Thus Ferrocube is part of a team which includes such organizations as Ampex Corporation, Hicksville; Philips Electronics, Mt. Vernon; Digital Electronics Corp., Albertson; Mepco, Morristown, N. J., and Philips Laboratories, Irvington-on-Hudson.

Moved in 1961

Ferrocube moved to its present location, just off the New York Thruway at Saugerties in 1961. Further expansion was made in 1963, and in 1966 a new facility was opened in Denver, Colo. The first two expansions made room for the growth of the memory core activity which had climbed in four years from an operation employing just over 100 people to one with more than 1,000.

The Denver operation was set up to handle vertical integration of FCOA products into the next logical step, core memory systems. Today FCOA employs more than 1,200 people on 156,000 sq. ft. of floor space.

FCOA's unparalleled growth has been largely in square-loop memory devices for computer data storage; recently, however, linear ferrite devices have been contributing a lion's share to the expanding business. Although there is no doubt that memory core products will continue to benefit from the booming data handling industry, many experts predict that linear ferrite devices promise even greater things as they too find application in digital equipment.

Ferrocube develops, manufactures, and markets a complete line of ferrite products ranging from linear devices such as pot cores, E, U, and I cores and custom parts to square-loop memory cores, planes, stacks and systems, and recording head assemblies.

Technology Leader

Ferrocube is a recognized leader in ferrite technology. The company has consistently led the field in the development of new formulations and applications of ferrite to new devices and components. Many new materials with improved time and temperature stability ferrites for use in critical filter inductors, a new high density ferrite adaptable to the stringent requirements of magnetic recording, and dozens of major advances in core-plane technology, have come from our development laboratory.

Most recently, Ferrocube pioneered the production machining of ferrite parts, making possible complex shapes with dimensional tolerances heretofore unheard of in magnetic materials.

In addition to its staff of highly skilled professionals, Ferrocube, as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Consolidated Electronics, has the many North American Philips subsidiaries as sources of production materials and scientific and engineering knowledge.

For example, our engineering research activities are supplemented by the basic scientific investigations of Philips Laboratories. Organized late in World War II, Philips Labs. carries on programs in basic research, applied research and development in its departments of Physics, Chemistry and Engineering. Its staff is organized in small groups headed by men of international reputation. More than half of its 40 professionals hold PhD degrees.

Areas Listed

Philips Laboratories is currently working in the following areas:

Magnetic and ceramic materials; Thermionics and cathodes; X-ray diffraction, fluorescence analysis and crystallography; Semiconducting devices; Microwave tubes and circuit development, and microwave physics; Radiation detectors and electric discharge in gases; Cryogenics, and Theoretical and solid state physics.

These investigations provide a solid base for further development work at Ferrocube.

North American Philips has a one-way know-how agreement with Philips of the Netherlands and its worldwide electronic interests. Through its parent, FCOA can avail itself of the scientific and engineering developments of laboratories whose aggregate personnel number in the thousands. A number of products have been added to the Ferrocube line as imports, later modified in FCOA laboratories to meet domestic requirements, and finally manufactured in the United States.

All Ferrocube activities except memory systems marketing, manufacturing, development are carried on in the Saugerties plant, which comprise two buildings of more than 130,000 sq. ft. on 32 acres. Approximately 12,000 sq. ft. is devoted to the activities of the development and applications laboratories.

26,000 Feet in Denver

Memory Systems marketing, manufacturing and development are housed in the Denver plant, which consists of a single 26,000 sq. ft. building. Except for memory core fabrication, all activities involved in the manufacture of a memory system, from wiring and stacking to final assembly and test, are carried on here.

The basis for Ferrocube's reputation as a manufacturer of

Golden Improving

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Harry Golden, a best-selling author and editor of the Carolina Israelite, is looking forward to leaving Charlotte Memorial Hospital in about two weeks.

Golden, 64, was reported in "excellent" condition after an operation Wednesday to remove an obstruction from a duct of the liver. It was his second major operation in less than three months.

He has been hospitalized since Dec. 27 when his gall bladder was removed.

high-quality, ferrite-based magnetic components and systems is careful product design, superior manufacturing equipment and facilities, competent personnel under experienced supervision and uncompromising testing to rigid standards.

Manufacturing at the Saugerties facility is divided into three divisions: linear, ferrites, memory planes and stacks, and recording head assemblies. One plant of 76,000 sq. ft. is devoted to the fabrication of linear ferrite materials, components, and devices, square-loop memory cores and recording head pole pieces. The other plant of 54,000 sq. ft. handles the design and construction of memory planes and stacks and recording head assemblies.

Ferrocube inspection techniques are thoroughly refined to sustain levels of workmanship which exceed NASA and NAVY specifications. Test procedures for elements, planes and stacks are particularly rigorous. Every complete stack assembly undergoes an operational check-out that includes 300 per cent testing of every core in the stack.

New Approach

In 1963 Ferrocube introduced a revolutionary new approach to the construction of precise magnetic recording heads for sophisticated data systems. The new principle — all-plant-bonding — is an exclusive Ferrocube process, and is protected by United States and foreign patents.

As noted earlier, cores for FCOA memory systems are fabricated at the Saugerties plant; all subsequent manufacturing and testing is done at the new Denver facility. At the latter there is also a large development engineering staff and complete equipment for memory system development and checkout. Here, too, is the Application Engineering Department, a group of widely experienced specialists who serve an important liaison function between the Sales Department on the one hand, and the design engineering and production activities on the other.

QUALITY CONTROL—Every batch or lot of ferrite memory cores produced at Ferrocube is 100 percent tested and then sampled to be sure that characteristics meet specified standards of uniformity. Shown is an operator checking a statistical sample of cores from one such batch.

Sees $36 M Saving In Railroad Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two major Eastern railroads say they can save $36.1 million a year by merging — and at the same time withstand competition created by another prospective mammoth merger.

The statement was contained in papers filed Wednesday with the Interstate Commerce Commission by the Norfolk & Western and the Chesapeake & Ohio-Baltimore and Ohio Railroads. The ICC is to open hearings April 17 on their proposed merger.

The railroads said pooling their resources would create a system worth nearly $6 billion with 27,537 miles of rail in 20 states, the District of Columbia and two Canadian provinces.

Such strength is needed, the companies contend, to compete with the merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central Railroads, approved by the ICC last April but held up by a series of court actions.

The Penn-Central would be a $6 billion corporation and the biggest business consolidation in U.S. history. Officials of the two railroads oppose the N&W-C&O-B&O pact.

Plans for New Industrial Plants Seen Below Needs

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. business is expected to spend 3.9 per cent more this year than last for new plants and equipment — but that's not enough to make government economists happy.

Reflecting the nation's sluggish economy, business investment in the first six months of 1967 is expected to drop below the fourth quarter 1966 rate, marking the first such downturn in four years, two federal agencies forecast Wednesday.

But a moderate upturn in the final half-year will produce the overall 3.9 per cent gain, said the Commerce Department and Securities and Exchange Commission.

That compares with a record 16.7 per cent jump in plant and equipment investment in 1966.

Partly as a result of that boom, President Johnson in January proposed a 6 per cent income tax surcharge to take effect July 1. The 1966 figures also prompted the administration to suspend the 7 per cent investment tax credit.

Opponents of the surcharge are expected to cite the latest forecasts to support their contention that the government shouldn't take money out of the economy at this time.

Officials said the projected year's increase is the lowest since the 4 per cent decline of 1961. The last time quarterly figures showed a decline was in January-March of 1963.

The estimates call for a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $62.6 billion in the first quarter and $62.25 billion in the second three months. This compares with a fourth quarter 1966 rate of $62.8 billion.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Expect Use Soon Of 1,000 Gallon Woodstock Truck

The possibility that the long-awaited placing in service of the second tank truck by Woodstock Fire Co. No. 3 of Lake Hill was expressed Tuesday night at the regular monthly meeting.

Reports by Walter Stone, Alfred Ostrander, and Phillips Eighmey indicated that much progress had been recorded during the past two months on the building of the tank truck, which will hold 1,000 gallons of water and be equipped with various equipment for fire fighting.

Announce Drills

Drills for March were announced by Captain Eighmey for Sunday, March 12 at 2 p. m., at the firehouse, and Wednesday, March 29, at 7 p. m. Station check for the month were designated for six different firemen—with the station and equipment to be checked daily to insure its readiness for service.

Captain Eighmey also announced a meeting of the four captains of the Woodstock Fire Department in which four competitive drills were set up for a future meeting of the companies. The Captain stated that Company 3 would practice these drills in the future to become familiar with them prior to the meeting with the other three companies.

Expect Use Soon

Fire Chief Duncan Wilson gave his monthly report to the company, again emphasizing that firemen working at fires must be active members and must be fully equipped in the proper clothing which was available on the fire apparatus. Wilson also reported on the fires for the month, various planned activities for the entire department, and the workings of the plectron system within the department.

Boy Scout Report

Paul Shultis, chairman of the recently re-activated Boy Scout Troop 62, reported to the sponsoring company that scouting activities seemed to be improving under the leadership of William Gillmor, new scoutmaster. Shultis said the 10-member troop committee had held a meeting and that the charter papers were being processed for the continuance of Boy Scout Troop 62 which meets weekly on Thursday at 7 p. m. at the firehouse in Lake Hill.

Various other items of business were discussed, including preliminary plans for the annual fund drive of the company which takes place during the summer months.

For Those Who Emote

Director Larry Cox will be interviewing actors and actresses for Performing Arts of Woodstock's next production, due on stage late in April, this Sunday afternoon, March 12, from 2 to 6 p. m. Also, interviews will be held Monday and Tuesday evenings, March 13 and 14, from 7 to 9 p. m.

Two original one act plays by James Pridenex, "Post Cards" and "The Bench," will require four men and three women.

Cox resides at 54B Tinker Street, directly across from the Cafe Espresso, and upstairs.

Offer Four Adult Classes Locally

Adult education courses started this week at the Woodstock School. Although one class is already completely full, there are openings in the following classes: Stimmatics for Women, Mondays at 7:30 p. m.; Typing, Thursdays at 7:30 p. m. (those attending must have their own portable typewriter); and Art, Tuesdays at 7:30 p. m., with the first class slated March 14.

All classes will run for a period of 10 weeks and there is a small registration fee. Officials of the Woodstock P-TA say that, if interest continues in having Adult Education courses at the Woodstock School, a greater variety of classes can be arranged for next fall.

The local P-TA also reminds those interested that the Phoenicia P-TA is sponsoring an Adult Education class production of the one act play, "The Lady of Larkspur Lotion" and five plays, by Tennessee Williams, at the Phoenicia School on March 11. The play is under the direction of Marie DeOliviera and a donation will be taken at the door. Curtain goes up at 8 p. m.

Important dates for parents and teachers to remember: March 17—second polio clinic at Woodstock School 9:30 to 10 a. m. for preschoolers; March 18—P-TA movie for youngsters, 2 p. m.; Woodstock School; March 20—OCS School Board meeting, 8 p. m., West Hurley School, with program on "Social Studies in the Elementary Schools."

Other dates include: March 21—High School P-TA meeting, 8 p. m.; March 23 to April 2—Schools close for Easter recess; April 3—schools reopen after spring vacation; April 4—Woodstock meeting, 8 p. m.

Services on Sunday For Dutch Church

At Woodstock Dutch Reformed Church, Village Green, Woodstock, Girl Scout Sunday, March 12 at 11 a. m. worship, the Rev. Donald E. Hicks will preach on the theme, Forward With Christ. A nursery is provided for the care of small children during the worship hour.

Sunday School 9:15 a. m. with classes for all age groups. Adult Bible Study at 9:15 a. m. Evening session at the Trindle home on Country Club Lane at 8:30 p. m. United Church Study Group at the Lutheran Church at 6:30 p. m. Senior Christian Endeavor at 7:30 p. m.

OCS Students Plead Guilty, On Probation

Last week in Special Sessions Court, held at the American Legion building in the Town of Olive before Justice of the Peace Frank Carle, Gary Scheffinger, 18, and Gordon Miller, 17, both OCS students and residents of Olive Bridge, pleaded guilty to charges made against them on Feb. 23.

The boys had unlawfully entered the Onteora Central High School building on Feb. 18 while the annual Junior Carnival was in progress and set off a fire alarm, causing the evacuation of more than 250 students and the curtailing of the program. Justice Carle, before passing sentence, informed the boys of the seriousness of their act and the possible dangers that could have resulted from this impulsiveness. The sentence imposed was 30 days in the Ulster County Jail, suspended in lieu of probation because the boys had had a good record at the school. Probation would be for a three month period and would be revoked and the original sentence put in effect if the boys are seen in bad company. Also during Easter recess, March 23 to April 3, while other students are on vacation, the boys must work at the Onteora Central School from 7 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. under the direction of Paul DeBruyn and will not receive remuneration for their efforts. In addition, the boys are to report to John Stefano, vice-principal, weekly and make a report concerning their progress.

List Polio Clinics For Pre-Schoolers

Parents of preschool children are reminded that the second polio clinics will be held at the Onteora Central Schools according to the following schedule: Bennett School, March 14, 11-11:30 a. m.; Phoenicia School, March 14, 9:30-10 a. m.; West Hurley School, March 15, 10-10:30 a. m.; and Woodstock School, March 17, 9:30-10 a. m.

The Sabin trivalent oral vaccine is being used. Two doses scheduled six to eight weeks apart are necessary to complete the series. Preschool children who received the first dose at the schools should attend this clinic. In addition, any child from six months to school age who was unable to attend the first clinic may receive his first dose at this time and the second dose from his family physician after the six to eight week interval.

School children with previous permission will receive their second dose during school hours.

Dems Preparing Blast on Romney
By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats are loading their files with Michigan Gov. George Romney's varying Vietnam statements and National Chairman John M. Bailey is preparing to blast the potential GOP presidential contender. In the absence of action on such major issues as Negro representation on state delegations, the Democratic National Committee is expected to step up its attack on prospective 1968 foes as it begins meeting today. The meeting is the committee's first in a year and comes in the wake of widespread criticism by Democratic leaders around the country of the committee's activities during last fall's election campaign. Corn is the biggest farm crop in the United States.

Chamber Reviews Year's Activities, Looks Ahead

George Svirsky, president of Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, today issued the annual report of activities of that organization. Included in the report is a resume of some of the programs the Chamber will undertake during the balance of its current fiscal year, which will end June 30.

In reviewing the past year, the most apparent fact is that of reorganization. An extensive amount of time was spent meeting with the membership and other residents of the area, to identify and define some of the problems which would have to be answered if a healthy pattern of growth was to be maintained in the Kingston Area. This input was reviewed by a special committee on priorities. The results of the considerations of this committee are now well-publicized as our Program of Work.

To seek solutions to the problems thus identified, the chamber experienced a sweeping reorganization. In this, three divisions were established. Each of the chamber's three vice presidents was assigned to a specific responsibility. Within each division, committees were established to assume specific functions for studying, investigation and recommending actions to be taken.

To bring the organization into line with the demands of modern management requirements, a major rewriting of the by-laws was undertaken. Finally, the membership was asked to support this new program through a voluntary assessment which was added to their regular annual investment.

Program Activity

While the accent in 1966 has been placed on establishing a sound organization structure, capable of meeting today's needs, a number of specific accomplishments, beyond the routine activity of the chamber, have been recorded.

In August, the chamber successfully supported the bid of the Kingston Area Jaycees for a state-wide Sports Tournament to be held here this coming summer. This will bring well over $100,000 in new business to the area. The chamber's Tourists and Convention Promotion Committee, under Chairman Paul F. Coon, has also been responsible for winning bids for several smaller but attractive conventions.

The Business Development Committee, chaired by V. James Andretta Jr., has recently started a broad-based program of advertising. The first step taken has been a local, outdoor advertising campaign designed to cause tourists and other visitors to the area to consider the uncrowded atmosphere of living and doing business in the Kingston Area. Other activities have included compiling and publishing a seven-page directory of Ulster County Industry. The directory lists the industry of the area by type of product and size, tabulating over 230 different businesses.

In the fall of 1966, the Community Services Committee, under the chairmanship of Richard M. Kalish, held a general meeting of community organizations to consider ways steps should be taken to insure a cleaner Kingston and surrounding areas. As reported at the time, the committee established a number of definite goals which must be met in the near future if we are to have a community of which we can be proud. The first step of the committee was to suggest that automobile litter bags be distributed throughout the area. The Kingston Area Financial Council undertook the responsibility for producing an initial supply of these bags which are now available from any Kingston area bank.

Last spring, the chamber was instrumental in locating a permanent site for a replica of a Mississippi River Show Boat. The replica will be a floating summer theatre capable of seating 300 persons. This unique tourist attraction will be located here in Kingston as soon as financing is arranged of an extensive final phase of construction to bring the vessel up to the new standards set by the U. S. Coast Guard.

The Retail Services Committee distributed over 2,500 colorful badges which were worn by retail and service business personnel during the Christmas season, urging residents to do their shopping early, and in the Kingston Area. Gordon Dew is the chairman of the committee.

Legislative Action

In legislative action, the State and National Affairs Committee spoke out to our elected representatives on a number of issues including the so-called "Right-to-Work" law and the unemployment compensation bills. Our Local Government Affairs Committee has communicated with city, county, school district and the various township governments on a number of specific issues of interest to the business community. This committee, under Dr. Jeremiah Sachs, has also studied various specific services, such as library service in the area and the County T.B. Hospital's role in the county.

Last month, the State Affairs Committee, guided by Chairman William E. Belser, held one of the most successful meetings of its type in the entire state when over 100 businessmen attended a breakfast meeting with Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson and Senator Jay P. Rolison Jr. The meeting, co-sponsored by the New York State Council of Retail Merchants, also featured Bernard K. Allanson, council legislative assistant, who spoke on the 1967 legislative session in Albany.

Late in 1966, the Tourist and Convention Promotion Committee was successful in assuming the activities of the county-funded Ulster County Publicity Committee of the Board of Supervisors. The County Committee is headed by Theodore Musialkiewicz, supervisor of the Town of Ulster, and is charged with the promotion of tourism in Ulster County. In administering the affairs of the committee, it is hoped that the Chamber will be able to help the County Board of Supervisors in building this vital program which aids our Tourist and Vacation Industry.

Looking Ahead

Now let us look ahead to the next four months and see what our committees plan, based on the foundations built during the last year.

The Business Development Committee is planning to continue and extend its outdoor advertising program within the county, with the intention of attracting new residents and businesses to the area. The second major project of the committee will be to push to completion the long-standing dream of bringing first-rate airport facilities to the Kingston Area. The committee now has good direction in this matter and, with a Committee member, Harry Kaprielian as chairman of the County Board of Supervisors' special sub-committee on airport development, there is a good opportunity for the success of this project.

Prior to Easter, the Retail Services Committee plans to hold its first training clinic for retail personnel. The subject will be the detection and prevention of shoplifting, a major economic and social problem today. There are also plans to investigate the establishment of a solicitations control program.

The Community Services Committee plans on continuing its activity for a cleaner Kingston during the Spring of 1967 by mounting a clean-up drive which will utilize the personnel and talents of the many civic organizations in the area. Chairman Kalish indicates that plans for specific activity will be announced in the near future.

During the first half of 1967, it is probable that the most significant function of the Tourist and Convention Promotion Committee will be the sponsorship of the commemoration of the signing of the first State Constitution, together with the honoring of the 50th Anniversary of the founding of the New York State Police by Col. George F. Chandler of Kingston. Project Chairman is Francis Kugelmann.

Convention Service

Other committee activity will include our bid for the New York State Men's Bowling Tournament and Convention for 1969. The Kingston Chamber has worked for three years to win this bid. Also, the committee is developing a plan to give uniformly good service to convention groups who come to the area. This service will include such things as arranging for walking tours of the old stockade, welcoming signs, special displays, tours of the local plants or other places of interest and any other item which will help make Kingston an attractive site for conventions and other meetings. (In all cases, the chamber gratefully acknowledges the efforts of all other groups in the community which make such added activities possible). Finally, we expect to have a greatly increased volume of inquiries as a result of acquiring administration of the Ulster County Publicity Program. This should provide a valuable source of names for our prospect list.

The State Affairs Committee, under the Chairmanship of William E. Belser, is off to a fine start. After its recommendations on the ballot items in November and its sponsorship of the first annual legislative breakfast last month, the committee has now geared-up to review legislation which may affect the business community.

Plans are moving ahead, to hold our first annual dinner meeting with local government officials. The Local Government Affairs Committee will be sponsoring this event which will have the effect of greatly improving communications between the business community and our elected and appointed representatives in local government.

Manpower Development

The Education Committee, under Chairman Dean M. Kinter, was renamed the Area Manpower Development Committee early last year when it was seen that the main thrust of the Committee would be to work with the unemployed and under-employed of Ulster County. A contract has recently been submitted for a program wherein the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce will become the prime contractor with the Federal Government in administering an on-the-job training program in many Ulster County plants. The program will provide a period of pre-employment training for candidates and its approval is eagerly awaited by the committee. It has been estimated that the program, in its first year, should process about 200 persons, providing them with training which should place them in useful, productive, payroll-producing jobs in the County.

Kinter has indicated that once the program is underway, it is expected that the Manpower Development Committee will enlarge itself into an Area Manufacturer's Council which will deal with specialized needs and interests. At that time, it has been recommended that an Education Committee per se, be re-established as an integral part of our structure.

Organization Plans

In the area of organization improvement, it is expected that a major renovation of the offices will be accomplished with the next several months. Also, early in the year, we hope to acquire the remaining items of equipment which will be necessary for the efficient operation of the office. With the benefits now being enjoyed through added staff personnel, a sound program of practical public relations is being developed to inform the business community and the public in general of the Chamber's activities.

The Chamber's Budget and Finance Committee, guided by Chairman William R. Stall, has met on a frequent schedule during the past several months and is now ready to submit a Fairshare Investment Schedule to the membership. This will be implemented at the time of the May 1 billings. It is expected that this will place member investments on a sound and equitable base.

Membership Services

During the year, several new membership services were initiated. First, a regular membership Newsletter was established to keep the member informed of the activities of his Chamber. In addition to the nine issues of this bulletin, we sponsored six breakfast meetings for the membership, where topics of common interest to the business community were presented.

New, business-building prospects were made available for the exclusive use of the members. To help the new member better understand his chamber, several New Member Orientation Programs have been held in the chamber offices.

Public Relations

During the past year, the executive vice president made 20 personal speaking appearances throughout the area. Additionally, the chamber issued numerous news releases concerning its program activity. Beside many on-the-spot radio interviews, the president and executive vice president appeared on a special, one hour radio interview on the chamber and the executive vice president has been a guest on two different radio programs where the public has had the opportunity of calling to discuss the community and the chamber's role.

The chamber handled over 4,000 individual inquiries during the past year, made by letter, phone and personal visits to our offices. These ranged from tourist information requests to facts on local government and information on business development in the Kingston Area.

In a program started in September, through the cooperation of the Kingston Daily Freeman, over 50 one-week subscriptions were provided to out-of-towners who indicated that they were considering residence (and employment) in the Kingston Area. The names of over 100 prospective newcomers and over 200 prospective vacationers were distributed to interested chamber members for their use in developing new business contacts.

Office Facility, Equipment During the year, the physical facilities and equipment of the chamber came under careful survey. It was quickly determined that the present office equipment was inadequate for the needs of the organization. During the year, additional equipment, including addressing and folding machines, dictation equipment and an additional desk were purchased. Also, audio-visual equipment, including a portable tape recorder and an automatic slide projector, were acquired, as well as a photocopy machine and several filing cabinets.

Very early in the survey, it was determined that the office which we now occupy was not satisfactory, in its present state, to serve as the "front door" of the community. A committee was established to investigate the various alternate possibilities for improving or relocating the office. It was agreed that the location in the Governor Clinton Hotel was very nearly ideal for serving the chamber's many different functions in the community.

A plan was then developed for a complete remodeling which will provide us with a modern, up-to-date facility with the capacity for handling our needs as anticipated in the future. Methods are now being investigated for financing this project. It is hoped that the program will be completed in the next several months.

During the past year, the executive vice president participated in two Institutes for Organization Management; one in Athens, Georgia and one at Syracuse University. Allen participated in the Syracuse program under the auspices of a scholarship granted by the New York State Chamber of Commerce Executives Association and won an honor grade there. A new secretary, Mrs. Jean W. Loring of Corticelli, attended a Staff Institute in Albany, which was sponsored by N.Y.S.C.C.E. Finally, another secretary, Mrs. Mary P. Fava of Bearsville, became the chamber's first permanent addition to the staff since its inception in 1945, bringing the total number of employees to three. This has greatly increased the capacity and flexibility of the office.

To summarize this report, it should be noted that the past year has been one of rebuilding, both internal and external. We have attempted to re-establish the close relationship of the member to the organization by enlisting his help in writing a sound program and then by utilizing his abilities through a new committee structure.

That the effort has been successful is borne out by the accomplishments of the recent months and the many plans for coming months. The chamber is its members, working in unison on projects for their common good. In 1967, I hope to see even more members become active in the committee programs. With participation and dedication, we can accomplish any goal we set.

Cautions Against Reduced ETV Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The New York State Education Commissioner says a slice in federal aid for educational television could frustrate the "great expectations" of two years ago when such funds were approved.

James E. Allen Jr. made that comment Wednesday during a meeting here with the state's congressional delegation. Cutting back or just holding the line on federal aid programs for education could hamper such efforts, Allen told the congressmen.

Faces Prison Term In Campus Shooting

PENN. YAN, N. Y. (AP) — A 24-year-old man faces a five-year prison sentence for the campus shooting of a Keuka College woman student who broke their engagement.

Louis P. DeMola of Utica was sentenced Wednesday by Judge Lyman H. Smith of Yates County Court to serve the term in Attica State Prison. DeMola pleaded guilty Feb. 4 to a charge of second-degree assault in the shooting of Miss Carol Ann Brown, 20, of West Winfield, on Feb. 23, 1966. She has since recovered and returned to her classes.

LBJ Spurs Allergy Fight

BY ALLERGY FOUNDATION (Distributed by NEA Special Services)

Right now, Congress has before it proposals by the President to make a historic move. Because "winds carrying waste gases have no respect for man-made political boundaries," as President Johnson put it, the federal government proposes to step fully into the regulation of air pollution in the various states. Only the recognition of a total threat to health could have made such an action even thinkable.

Just how many people are in the grip of allergies, prime candidates for severe reaction to such an action even thinkable. wastes in the air?

Cases of emphysema, the killer that concerns healthy people the most at present, are estimated at from 1 to 10 million in this country. It is more common than lung cancer and TB combined.

There are probably 13 million whose lives are affected by hay fever and/or asthma. We know that in WWII, 37,000 soldiers were discharged with asthmatic disabilities. We guess that 1 in each 20 persons has hay fever. One estimate rounds out the figure on recognizable common allergies at 20 million people.

It is probably higher. A specific test in a number of cities came up with 23 to 29 per cent — an average of 1 in every 4.

With the confusion of cause and the variety of severity, from slight to fatal in food allergies, scientists can only suspect that 1 of every 2 persons get reactions to their own private poisons.

The estimate on sensitivity to poison ivy is set at from 50 to 75 per cent.

Skin disorders? Who knows?

There's one calculated guess. In the chemical, metal, plastic and dye industries, the estimate is that at least 600,000 are on the job, coping with an extra burden of sensitivities to products or byproducts in their plants.

(NEXT: They Can Be Fatal)

Olive Baptismal Service Is Held

During a special service of the Olive-Shokan Baptist Church, West Shokan, the following people were baptized into the fellowship of the church: Shirley North, Wayne Nichols, Cheryl Ronk, Mrs. Kate Nichols, and Mr. Grace North.

Following the baptism, the new members were presented certificates of baptism and church membership. Bibles and were given the Right Hand of Christian Fellowship.

The song service was under the direction of Harvey L. Every, Sunday school superintendent. Follow on was sung by Diana North, Peggy North, Gail Nichols, and Sherry Every.

This was the first time that the new baptismal robes and baptistry have been used.

Business Mirror Reflections

Expect Administration Will Reconsider Tax Measures

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Some economists and businessmen wouldn't be at all surprised to find the Johnson administration reconsidering its attitude on two controversial tax measures, the investment tax credit and the income tax surcharge.

The tax credit, which had been a spur to business spending, has been suspended until Jan. 1, 1968. The tax surcharge has been proposed but not passed. It couldn't go into effect anyway until midyear.

Are Flexible

Both these measures are in a flexible stage, just as the administration meant them to be. The suspended tax credit of seven per cent could be reinstated quite easily. And the proposed six per cent surcharge could be dropped before a vote.

The reasoning behind the new and critical look at taxes is based on a re-evaluation of the economy. Just a couple of months ago the consensus among economists was for a first-half downturn and renewed economic vigor in the second half of the year.

There were some notable exceptions. Some economists saw a 10 per cent drop in profits. Others referred to the possibility of a domino effect, with the first-half downturn intensifying in the second half.

There seems now to be less certainty among those who produced the consensus. The first-half downturn has surprised some. And now the essential consideration is this: Does business need a spring tonic or more tranquilizers?

Prescribes Latter

Administration policy so far has been to prescribe the latter. Late last year the investment tax credit for new plants and equipment was suspended on the theory that it had been encouraging overspending. The economy then was overheated.

In January the President called for further restraint through a six per cent surcharge on income taxes for most individuals and corporations.

Both were controversial measures and in no sense based on a consensus. Business howled when the tax credit was removed. And many observers still feel the surcharge proposal was badly timed.

The present American economy is such a high-strung affair that it needs very delicate handling. Its moods are not easily determined. It took months, for instance, for some economists to decide that the boom had peaked out.

Evidence Growing

Evidence that parts of the economy may need a looser notch on the belt seems to be growing. The latest evidence is a sharp drop in the manufacture of railroad boxcars, a direct result of suspension of the tax credit.

The credit suspension also has been blamed for a sharp drop in orders for machine tools, an industry so basic that any change causes repercussions many months into the future.

Also in either poor or less bullish shape, although not directly as a result of losing the tax credit, are housing, commercial construction, automobiles and some appliances.

Evidence that some of these downturns already have influenced policy is shown by the slow but steady opening of the credit account by the Federal Reserve, the freeing of federal money for road construction, and the pumping of federal funds into the housing market.

These moves seem to hint that if evidence of a slowdown continues to accumulate, the fiscal prescription may change also.

Couple Is Charged After Death of Son

PETERSBURG, N.Y. (AP) — A couple from this community has been charged with endangering the health of a minor in connection with the death from malnutrition of their 6-month-old son.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Gaunay were arrested by State Police Wednesday and appeared before Peace Justice Arthur Smith of the Town of Petersburg. Smith set a preliminary hearing for March 18 and released the couple.

Anthony Matera, a Rensselaer County coroner, said the infant's death was caused by malnutrition. Gaunay is 41 and his wife is 42. Matera said they have two other children.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

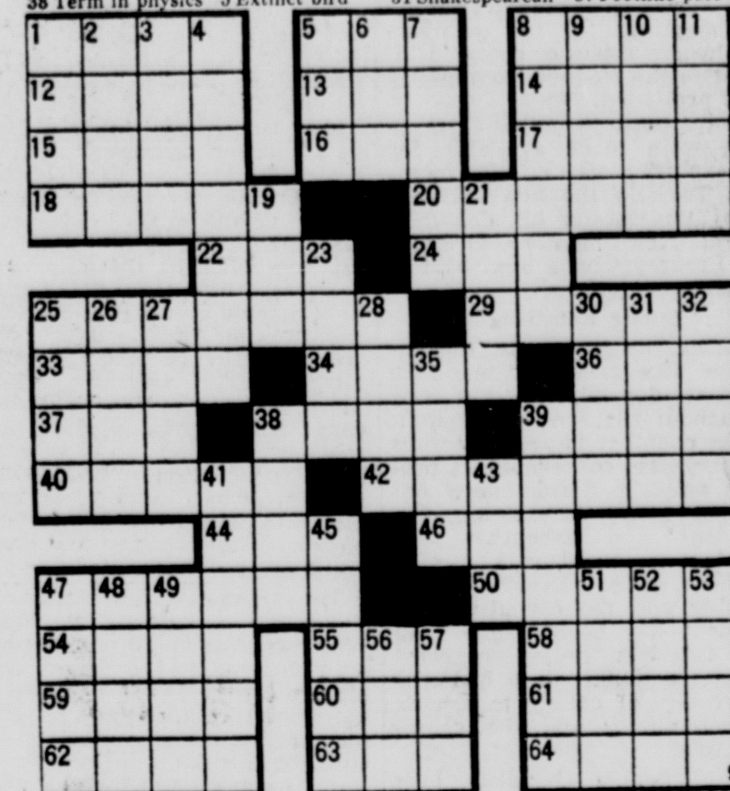

Mongolia is one of the world's least densely populated countries. Bigger than Alaska, it has an area of 626,000 square miles but a population estimated in 1963 to be only 1,019,000—1.6 persons per square mile. According to The World Almanac, many of the people are nomadic and the chief industry of the country is livestock raising. Other activities include food processing, wool-cleaning, shoemaking and mining.

4-H Club

Hurley Horsemen

It was reported to The Freeman today that the recent meeting of the Hurley Horsemen at which Sheriff William B. Martin was the guest speaker, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Paul Jr. of Hurley Mountain Road.

The original report from a spokesman for the 4-H Club said the meeting was at the Quartermaster's Ranch on Hurley Mountain Road. The report today said the club has been meeting at the Paul home for the past few sessions. It was also noted that the club members own their own horses.

Richard Kaufman is a member of the club. His name was reported incorrectly in the original report. The club is planning a meeting at the Montville Firehouse in the near future.

Accord Lucky Clovers

Beverly Coddington resigned as the news reporter of the Accord Lucky Clovers III and IV at a recent meeting at the home of Mrs. David Lang. She was replaced by Janet Lang who volunteered for the position.

Officers for the club include Rita Stoddard, president; Janet Lang, vice-president and news reporter; Bonnie Ludlow, secretary and Laura Finestone, treasurer.

Members present at the meeting besides the officers were Julie Meehan, Karan Sondak, Susan Marshall and Cheri Thompson.

The leaders for the sewing projects are Mrs. W. E. Thompson for the Accord Lucky Clovers III and Mrs. Floyd Countryman for the Lucky Clovers IV.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Marvin Stoddard.

Men's Breakfast Set Palm Sunday By Church Group

The annual men's communion service and breakfast of the Kingston Area Council of Churches will be held at the Fair Street Reformed Church at 7 a. m. Palm Sunday.

The service, under the direction of the Rev. Edwin C. Coon, pastor of the local church will be held in the church sanctuary, following the Women's Guild for Christian Service will serve breakfast in the parish room of the church.

Guest speaker at the breakfast will be David Nelson, an active Baptist lay-leader and atomic research executive at General Electric in Schenectady.

Between 200 and 300 men attend this annual breakfast and may purchase their tickets through Men's Club or Council of Churches representatives in the local congregations. Those churches desiring tickets who have not received them to date may contact: Floyd Ellsworth of Port Ewen.

Holy Scriptures

East Pakistan's Murun tribesmen had holy scriptures written on banana leaves in ancient times, but a legendary cow ate the writs. Thus, says National Geographic, the present-day Muruns' custom of sacrificing cows.

HINTS FROM

Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise:
What is a bean sandwich?
I hear you were raised in the part of the country that is famous for them.

Budgeteers

Dear Budgeteers:
There are about a hundred ways to make bean sandwiches. They can be made open-faced, which means one piece of bread with hot beans poured directly on top, and then go from there, or...

Closed-faced, which means you can use two pieces of bread, a hamburger bun, English muffins, etc., and put a p on it and hold it in your hands when you gobble it up.

Usually these are made from leftover beans, or any kind of beans your family has a hankering for.

On a hot open sandwich, the beans are not mashed. You just put down a piece of bread or toast, pour the hot beans over it, sprinkle on some chopped onions, rash some catsup or hot sauce over that, sprinkle grated cheese over the top of that and top with a dash of paprika.

This seems to be the favorite, but you can ad-lib from the beans on up—dictated by your own little taste buds.

The closed sandwich is usually made on hamburger buns.

You heat any leftover beans (the canned Mexican Chili Beans and Pork and Beans are wonderful) and using your potato masher, mash them as if you were mashing potatoes. They will end up just about the right consistency. Spread this on the hot bun. (Down around Texas way, people break up corn chips and mix with the mashed beans. This is a real crunchy "bit.")

This closed type of sandwich usually has a piece of thin cheese laid on top of the beans (grated can be used and I find it better), a thin slice of tomato, split onion rings, hot sauce, and chili sauce or catsup, shredded lettuce... and is topped with hamburger pattie.

Then the top of the bun is put on. The fun is trying to get your choppers over it. It's out of this world.

Heloise

P.S. All of your budgeteers can make up your own sandwich to fit your taste buds. If your name is Mary, why not call it Mary's Sandwich? You will be surprised how teen-agers love them.

I guess it doesn't matter what they call it as long as it's inexpensive, filling and helps on the budget. Ha!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:
For mothers with small babies: Plastic bags that come on men's shirts from the laundry are just perfect to put over tiny dresses and seldom-worn little boy's suits when hanging them in the closet.

Cut a hole in the middle of the closed end and slip the top of baby's hanger through it. The bag is long enough to cover the entire article.

Jerry

Dear Heloise:
For those of you who have pierced ears:

Try keeping track of those earrings by sticking them through large buttons. I clamp each pair on one button and they are always together.

This idea has kept my earring tray in order.

Jessie McWilliams

Letter of Love

Dear Heloise:
My parents had a wonderful remedy for bringing a smile to our faces if we were crying long after we had been hurt or scared. They would get a spoon and tell us our tears were so beautiful that they wanted to catch them and save them.

In a matter of seconds, we'd be laughing at the idea and couldn't produce another tear if we had wanted to.

D. C. K.

Dear Heloise:
On a Hollywood bed, the electric blanket cord is inclined to protrude from under the foot of the bed.

I attached a cup hook to the bottom of the box spring with the open part of the hook pointing toward the head of the bed. It keeps the electric cord well-hidden.

Oliver Blevins

Dear Heloise:
I keep a dish drainer under the sink in which I stand pot lids, serving trays and large cake dishes.

In the silver drainer I put soap pads and small cleaning brushes. This has been a big help in storing bulky or unusually small articles.

Act to Crackdown On Credit Card Ills

By GERRY MCLAUGHLIN
ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — If someone steals your credit card and uses it he could be punished by a prison sentence of up to seven years, if some legislators have their way.

A move to crack down on illegal possession or use of credit cards was started Wednesday in the Legislature.

Sponsors of a bi-partisan measure aimed at curbing credit-card frauds said the illicit activity had grown into a multi-million dollar racket.

Introduction of bills dealing with credit cards was one of the highlights in activity at the Capitol Wednesday. These were other developments:

—The Republican minority in the Assembly sought unsuccessfully to force action on a bill that would have barred assignment of school children to schools outside their neighborhood. It was designed to nullify an Education Department ruling aimed at erasing racial imbalance in schools where the problem exists.

—The Senate passed unanimously a plan by Gov. Rockefeller to increase by $500 million to a new high of $2 billion—the amount of money the State Housing Finance Agency could borrow to finance housing projects. Rockefeller says that the agency needs the extra borrowing power to maintain its efforts to provide housing for low and middle-income families.

—The Assembly approved and sent to the governor a bill that would permit use of paper ballots in voting for Constitutional Convention delegates or amendments if there were too little space on voting machines. The bill stemmed from the confusion in the voting last November for delegates-at-large to the State Constitutional Convention.

—The Assembly adopted a measure that would free physicians from any obligation to serve on a jury.

Appeal Brings State Transit Plan Step Nearer Realization

By WILLIAM S. STEVENS
ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A comprehensive statewide transportation plan was a step closer to realization today in the wake of an urgent appeal from Gov. Rockefeller.

The governor Wednesday sent the Legislature a series of bills designed to set up agencies and grant powers to local governments that would enable his proposed $6.4-billion transportation program to get underway.

Rockefeller sought approval of measures designed to:

Bid to Solons, Public

—Establish a Department of Transportation.

—Enable local governments to wield more power in local transit affairs.

—Create a Metropolitan Transportation Authority to coordinate transit developments in the metropolitan New York City area.

The measures were part of a extensive effort by Rockefeller to obtain support from the legislators and the public for the massive transportation program dealing with highways, railroads, subways, buses and airports.

Tuesday and Wednesday he met with legislators to outline the plan, which requires as a key approval by the Legislature of a proposed $2.5-billion transportation bond issue.

If the Legislature agrees, the state's voters will be asked to make a choice on the issue in the November election.

The $2.5 billion would be supplemented by $1.85 billion in federal funds, $1 billion in local and authority spending and $1 billion in state funds to finance the five-year $6.4-billion transit program.

For Next Half Decade

Rockefeller proposes to spend about $4 billion for highways, $2.1 billion for improved mass transit systems and $330 million for airport improvements over the next half-decade.

As proposed by Rockefeller, the Transportation Department would consist of most of the units in the present Department of Public Works, plus the Office of Transportation, the Bureau of Aviation and the State Traffic Commission.

Its primary function, Rockefeller said in a message accompanying the measures, would be to provide "a focal point for the development of a unified and balanced state transportation policy."

In seeking to grant additional powers to localities, Rockefeller held that the bill would "enhance the power of local governments to provide for mass transportation facilities either directly or through contracts with public or private organizations."

For Local Communities

The bill would permit local communities to:

—Purchase or establish and operate mass transit facilities, such as bus and subway lines.

—Contract for operation of publicly or privately owned mass transit services.

—Make grants to public authorities operating mass transit units.

—Apply for federal or state grants to build mass transit facilities or airports.

The other measures — setting up the Metropolitan Transportation Authority — Rockefeller said, were needed to establish an organizational framework to coordinate all transportation problems in one of the nation's most heavily traveled areas.

The proposed MTA would represent an expansion of the present Metropolitan Commuter Authority headed by Dr. William J. Ronan, former secretary to Rockefeller.

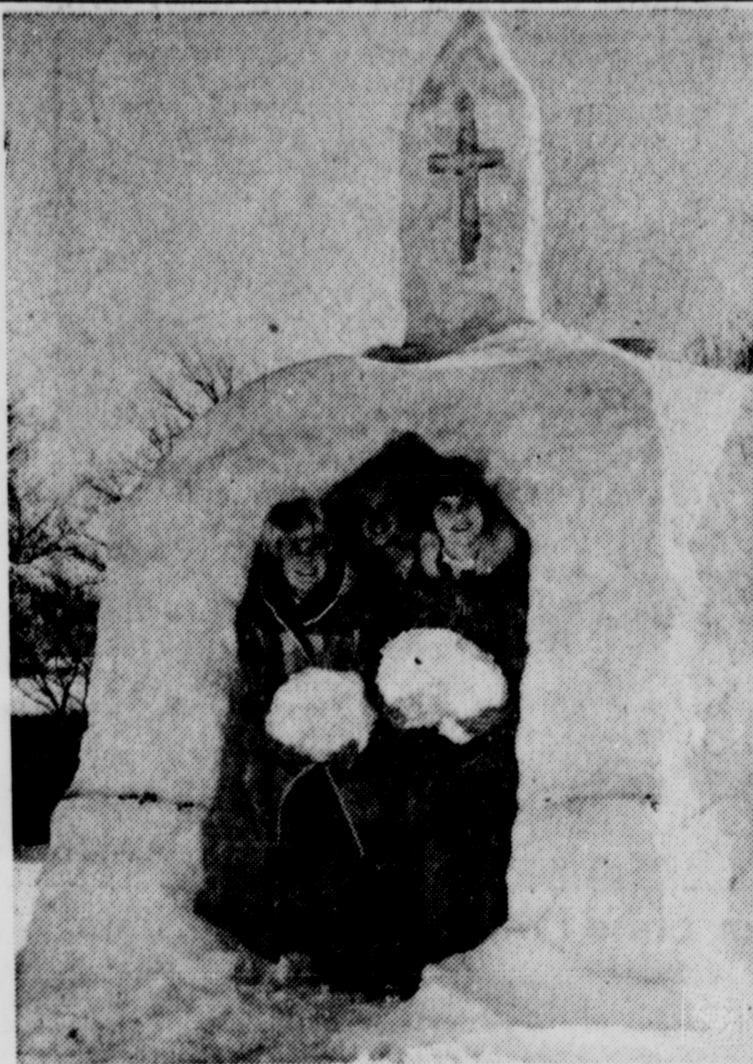

Its nine-member board, appointed by the governor — with three of the appointees eventually being recommended by the mayor of New York City — would serve as the governing body of several independent transportation authorities.

Included in the MTA would be the present MCTA, the Long Island Rail Road, owned and operated by the state, the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority, the Transit Authority and the Manhattan and Bronx Surface Transit Operating Authority.

The MTA would not deal in everyday operations of the agencies. It would serve, Rockefeller said, as the voice in policy matters.

Retires From G-U

Bernard A. Lubeck has retired after more than 50 years with the Grand Union Company. Lubeck began his career with the nation's ninth largest food chain as an assistant grocery buyer in November, 1916. At retirement Feb. 28, 1967, he was vice-president in charge of industrial relations and had the longest service record of any of Grand Union's more than 20,000 employees. Lubeck was one of the best-known food industry executives in the labor relations field. A founder and member of the Food Retailers Association of the Greater New York Trading Area, Lubeck was president of its Labor Relations Council from its inception in 1958.

But 1,000 Stay
75 Walk Out
On HHH Speech

NEW YORK (AP) — Some 75 persons protesting the role of the United States in Vietnam walked out on a speech by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey at the National Book Award ceremonies Wednesday night. But 1,000 others remained to give Humphrey a standing ovation.

Novelist Mitchell Goodman, one of those protesting, marched up to the stage of Philharmonic Hall, cupped his hands to his mouth, and shouted: "Mr. Vice President, we are burning children in Vietnam and you and we are all responsible!"

As the demonstrators left their seats, Humphrey, who appeared to be calm, told the audience: "This is what we mean by free speech. I've heard that Broadway shows sometimes lose their audience after the first night. I'm sorry to have lost part of our audience before we even began."

Not Topless, Strapless

LAWTON, Okla. (AP) — Shirley A. Johnson, 24, says it was all a mistake — she didn't perform a topless dance at a tavern last month — a strap on her go-go costume broke.

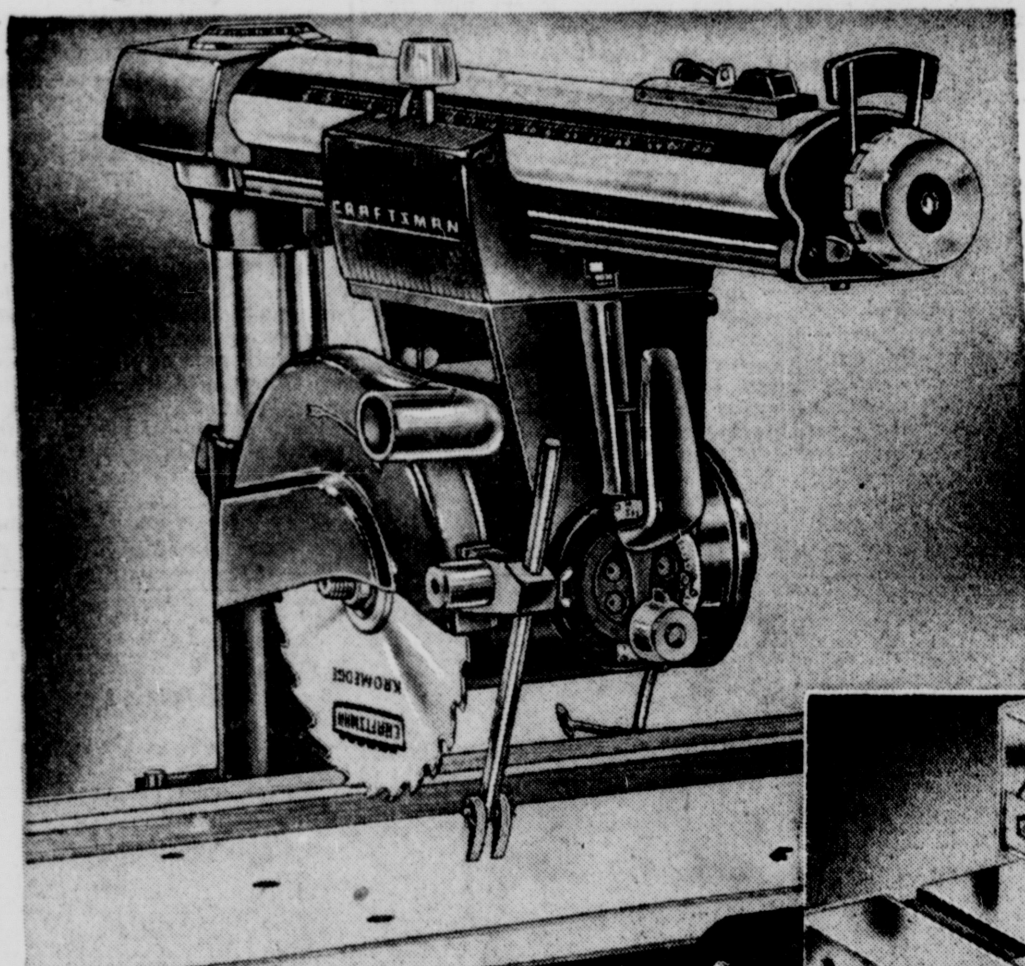

But the Special Sessions Court judge, Jack Brock, wasn't sympathetic. He found Mrs. Johnson guilty of outraging public decency and fined her $100 and court costs.

Plan Senior Play

The production of the senior play at the New Paltz Central School, "Outward Bound," is planned for March 17 and 18 in the Central School auditorium at 8 p. m.

Holly Reiser, with Robert Rushforth, is in charge of scenery for the play. Kathy Coffey is the stage manager, Pat Brennan and Randy Oakley in charge of tickets and business, Karen Hasbrouck is the program designer, Edward Hasbrouck is on sounds and Benjamin Langwick is assisting with lighting.

The play is by Sutton Vane.

Hear Accordion Solo

Donald Hulme, world champion accordion virtuoso, performed at an assembly at New Paltz High School on Friday. This talented young artist began playing the accordion at the age of eight and made his professional debut at Carnegie Hall at 14. He was United States Champion four years later and two years after that became the World Champion. Hulme has been a featured soloist with the Cities Service Band of America at the New York World's Fair and also on its nationwide Bandstand U.S.A. Tour. He has also been a guest on the Ed Sullivan Show and the Gary Moore Show on television.

Hulme's accordions are equipped with wireless remote-control amplification, enabling him to obtain more freedom on the platform without the burden of wires from microphone to amplifier. For a finale to his concert, Hulme performed with his keyboard covered with a black cloth and wearing white gloves which had been dipped in fluorescent paint. By use of his own black light he showed the audience the speed and dexterity of his fingers, which are his hallmark as champion.

Visit New York

The Huguenot Staff of New Paltz High School spent Saturday in New York City. The trip was planned by their advisor Harry Streifer, to celebrate the completion of the 1967 yearbook.

In the morning the group visited the Metropolitan Museum of Art. After lunch they attended the comedy Don't Drink the Water by Woody Allen. Dinner at the Hearstone Restaurant off Gramercy Square completed the day.

Chaperones in addition to Streifer included Mr. and Mrs. Joseph DiBlanca and John L. Wyman.

Howell Is Judge

Peter B. Howell, chairman of the mathematics department at New Paltz High School, is a member of a committee which will evaluate Monroe-Woodbury High School. The committee of educators was selected by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The visit will take place March 6 through March 9. Satisfactory completion of the evaluation will result in accreditation. New Paltz Central School was accredited in 1963.

Special Music Slated Palm Sunday Morning

The senior choir of the New Paltz Methodist Church will present "The Crucifixion" by Stainer on Palm Sunday at both the regular 8:30 and 11 a. m. services of worship.

The junior choir will also present a special offertory anthem. The choir is under the direction of Kenneth Baumgartner and the organist is Mrs. Kenneth Baumgartner. This service of worship through music on this special day of the Christian year is open to all in the community.

The Senior MYF of the New Paltz Methodist Church is again planning to serve an Easter dawn breakfast in the fellowship hall of the Methodist Church beginning at 7 a. m. Easter

Librarians on Trip

Six members of the New Paltz Library Assistants Club and the librarian attended the Regional Library Council meeting at Valley Central Senior High School, Montgomery, recently.

Miss Marian Emery of the Ramapo-Catskill Library System, the guest speaker, gave the group some tips on how to become professional librarians. Schools represented were Valley Central, New Paltz, Wallkill and Washingtonville.

Wyman at Convention

Mr. and Mrs. John L. Wyman, New Paltz, attended the National Association of Secondary School Principals Convention in Dallas, Texas last week.

One of the highlights of the convention was an address by Dr. James B. Conant, Jr., Conant's appearance coincided with the publication of another of his books, "The Comprehensive High School." In general he said he's very pleased with the progress that has been made on his recommendations published in "The American Secondary School."

Wyman attended a luncheon as guest of the editor of the National Education Association. The purpose was to recommend improvements in the publication and offer suggestions for future articles including title and author.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyman attended the small high school luncheon to hear Major James D. Carr, USMC. Major Carr has recently been selected as an Astronaut. He traced the history of Projects Mercury and Gemini which have been completed. With a movie, he showed some of the training the astronauts go through and gave a progress report on Project Apollo which is scheduled to get a man on the moon by 1970. He received a standing ovation and one could not help but see

Set Guidelines For State Police Releasing News

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State Police have been instructed to release to news media all pertinent facts of a crime, State Police Supt. Arthur Cornelius Jr., said today.

He said the instructions are in a State Police memorandum that is intended "to assure a maximum flow of information while at the same time preserving the right of the defendant to a fair trial."

Among other instructions: — Photographs of a person for whom a warrant has been issued may be furnished but with police identification removed.

— The finding of physical evidence — such as a weapon or crime proceeds — may be reported along with the results of a search. However, items of evidence that would hinder solution of the case if reported should not be disclosed.

— Suspects interviewed but not charged should not be identified.

Cornelius also instructed troopers to avoid reference to a record, crime reenactment, defendant's guilt, identity of witnesses, and speculative statements.

Police may disclose whether a defendant in a drunken driving case submitted to a test to determine the alcohol in his system, Cornelius said. All other information on examinations and tests in connection with a criminal case is prohibited.

the pride reflected by the audience.

Sunday evening the Wyman's attended a Bar-B-Q put on by President Johnson's chef, as guests of the Taylor Publishing Company.

On Tuesday a tour of the new plant was arranged.

Cornelius said that, when a suspect is arrested, troopers should report the defendant's name, age, residence, employment, marital status, the charge, the complainant's identity unless disclosure would endanger him, the arresting agency, circumstances of the arrest, resistance, and possession of weapons.

He said troopers are authorized to withhold the names of victims in sex crimes.

Elimination Play Tough to Spot

By Oswald and James Jacoby Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

In yesterday's column we mentioned that West would probably have made three spades had he played the hand. The hand was in a Dallas duplicate. At some tables West did play at two spades. At others, East went to three spades after the bidding proceeded as shown in the box.

North would open a heart. West would win and look over dummy without too much enthusiasm. He would be looking at five probable losers and his problem would be to make one disappear into thin air.

Here is the way Bud Tremholm succeeded with this magic. He drew trumps with two leads and led a diamond from dummy. South played low and Bud, West, played his queen. North won with the king, cashed his king of hearts and led the jack and another diamond.

Bud ruffed in dummy and was ready with the magic. He simply played ace and another club. South was in with the king and had to lead a red card. Bud ruffed in dummy and discarded his last club.

This is an example of an elimination play that could have been stopped if North had seen what was going to happen and led a club after cashing his king of hearts. South's ten would have forced West's ace. Later, South would get in with the ace of diamonds, cash his king of clubs and get out of the lead by playing a third diamond for dummy to ruff.

This type play comes up quite often and it was particularly hard for North to guard against it, in view of the fact that in general you just don't lead dummy's long suit.

NBC Reconsiders

Genie Could Be At Work Again For 'Dream' Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Time was in the television business when any backager of programs who thought he had a good idea for a series would whip up a sample show to demonstrate to networks and sponsors.

Another 'Spin-Off'

But as costs climbed to where it sometimes reaches almost half a million dollars to put together one of these pilot shows, fewer gambles of this sort are made. But there has developed a new type of pilot called "the spin-off." This involves using an established series as a frame in which to show a new idea.

NBC's "Road West" was born as an episode of "The Virginian." "The Girl From U.N.C.L.E." evolved from "The Man From U.N.C.L.E." But anthology programs, like Bob Hope's Wednesday night shows, have been the most prolific spawning grounds for new series ideas, including "Run For Your Life."

Fans of NBC's "Bonanza" will see a potential new series March 26. But, unlike most other spin-offs, the idea did not occur to the show's producer until he saw the way one of last season's episodes turned out.

That was a show about an immigrant Italian vintner who settled on Ponderosa land and became involved in a land squabble with the Cartwrights.

The next move was to order up a second script using the same characters and develop the format a bit further. The family has the ideal TV family — wife and two teen-age children. And everybody in the cast is dreaming up all the story lines they can play out — if the lightning strikes next year or even the year after that.

'Trek' May Move

It now appears that NBC will give "I Dream of Jeannie" another season — it's fate had been in doubt — and move it to the head of its Tuesday night lineup. There is also talk of adding a second genre to liven things up. It is also expected that the new Jerry Lewis variety hour will follow it on that night, with "S-Trek" moved into the Friday night column.

CBS is expected to replace Steven Hill with Peter Graves as the lead in "Mission Impossible" next season.

Recommended tonight: "Tri-View: The American Boy," ABC, 10-11 EST, a "Stage 67" presentation of three short films showing the growing up process in three different parts of the country.

'Keep Going Until I Drop'

Nelson Eddy Gave 'Lead' In His Final Interview

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Death had to be farthest from our minds that sunny afternoon at Nelson Eddy's beautiful hilltop home.

He looked so well. "Come in, come in!" he boomed. Even in speaking, the rich, hearty baritone was reminiscent of the musically golden Nelson Eddy-Jeanette MacDonald movies.

His cheeks were more lined than then, of course, but they were pink. The brown-blond hair he shampooed daily was as thick and billowy as ever. A husky six-footer, he wore a maroon sport jacket and black slacks.

Once a newspaper reporter himself, Eddy had expressed concern that he provide a good "angle" or "lead" to the interview.

Sitting in his handsomely furnished den, he talked of his Australian night-club tour, just concluded. And of dates just ahead from Florida to Toronto.

The "lead" came almost accidentally in a discussion of his age.

"I'm 65 and have no compunction about saying it. The next question people ask is, 'When are you going to retire?'"

"I suppose it's obvious I should. But I hope to keep on going till I drop."

Ten evenings later he did just that, from a fatal stroke, while singing to an audience of 400 from the stage of a Miami Beach night club.

In this, his final interview, Eddy talked of: Miss Gail Sherwood, his tall, blonde singing partner for 14 years in night clubs — so good a comedienne, "I'm practically her straight man."

Their associate, Theodore Paxson — "my pianist and music director for 40 years."

The gas he told middle-aged and older night-club audiences — clean jokes because "the fans keep me on a pedestal." Sample:

"If a dancer can become senator and an actor, governor" — California's George Murphy and Ronald Reagan — "I figure a singer can become president. My hat's in the ring!"

Another was about an old lady who stopped him on a street and asked, "Did you used to be Nelson Eddy?"

Spoke of Travel Grind

He spoke of the travel grind of one-night stands, with the laundering of tuxedo shirts in hotel basins, but said:

"It all melts into nothing — and here you see my hambone blood — when I step on that stage and see the audience laughing and applauding, I love to sing and meet the people."

He showed the hillside where he chopped weeds and planted trees for exercise. And the painting and sculpting studio he hadn't had time for in six months. There were clay busts of his wife, Ann, and others, oils of Miss Sherwood and others.

His parting words were: "Did I give you a lead?" Neither of us could have known what a lead it was.

MR. AND MRS. PERCY W. GAZLAY of Accord were married 30 years on February 27. A party was given in honor of the occasion on that day in the Accord Grange Hall. More than 65 relatives and friends attended the festive gala. Mr. and Mrs. Gazlay have resided in Accord for most of their lives and both are active members of the Grange. For many years, Mr. Gazlay was employed as an RFD carrier by the U.S. Post Office. He is now retired. In addition to her grange work, Mrs. Gazlay has headed up the Red Cross campaigns in her area and is a noted volunteer worker in behalf of civic and church projects. (Freeman photo by Wagenfohr)

Local Girl Elected To Post at College

Campus elections were held recently at the College of Saint Rose, Albany, to fill the positions of Student Senate '67. Student government at CSR initiates legislation and coordinates campus activities.

Miss Diane Farrell, '68, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Farrell of 43 Lounsbery Place, Kingston, was elected as communications committee chairman for the second consecutive year. This position involves responsibility for publicity within the college community as well as programs directing publicity outside the school.

THE HUDSON VALLEY REPERTORY THEATRE INC. has been created, to bring to this area, year-round professional theatre of the highest calibre. This new non-profit corporation will not only bring fresh and vital presentations to you, but through its school and workshop productions, act to open up roads of cultural stimulation and education for the many students in the schools and colleges of the Hudson Valley.

The ultimate establishment of this new professional theatre will no doubt depend on the qualities it will bring to you, the public, as an audience; qualities of entertainment, vital and positive ideas in a provocative form, and of course, magic! We hope to delight, intrigue, and on occasion, overwhelm you; but we can only do this with your full participation and help. The success of such a venture does depend on a community of people . . . and this bold new theatrical promise will rise or fall with the people who will, or will not support it and involve themselves.

The decentralization of major professional theatre is fast becoming an established fact of our cultural life in these United States. The commitment is being made throughout the country and is being solidified by the financial actions of large corporations, foundations, and the government. However, the power of establishment, and eventually that of permanence, does lie with you, the individual, who must prove to be both benefactor and audience!

We are now in the process of creating a fund of $225,000—, from which the Hudson Valley Repertory Theatre will draw for its initial operations this year. Won't you join us now in this exciting new adventure in the theatre and establish a great cultural asset in the Hudson Valley?

Send your contribution in now!

THE GREAT SMOKING FEUD—TOLERANCE AND CONSIDERATION MOST IMPORTANT

Dear Mrs. Post: I have just finished reading Mrs. D.H.E.'s letter regarding smoking in her home and your answer congratulating her on "enjoying her smoking friends and putting up with their habits," and can only say I disagree most heartily with you.

I, too, along with countless others, am made ill from this disgusting habit. My friends know that I cannot take it and refrain from smoking in my home. I have not lost any valued friends as yet. Let's do something about this taken-for-granted-idea that the smoker can light up without as much as an "if you please."—Mrs. Massie

Dear Mrs. Massie: It is not up to me to say whether people should smoke or not. I can only suggest to the smokers that they give as little offense as possible, asking permission if they suspect there might be objections, refraining when there are, and so on. At the same time, what is offensive to you is a source of pleasure to others, and tolerance on the part of the non-smoker is as important as consideration on the part of the smoker.

On Eating Spaghetti

Dear Mrs. Post: What is the correct way to eat good old-fashioned spaghetti? My husband always cuts his into small pieces and has no trouble picking it up with his fork. But I, on the other hand, being Italian, wind it around the fork. Also, which method should I teach my children?—Mrs. Kelly

Dear Mrs. Kelly: If one has difficulty with the long strands, I see no objection to cutting it up as your husband does. However, since it is originally an Italian dish, the more correct method is to wrap it around the fork in the traditional way, and that is the way I would teach my children.

Addressing Envelope to Mother and Daughters

Dear Mrs. Post: I will be writing out invitations to a bridal shower. There are women on this list with single daughters at home who will also be invited. Should I address the envelopes to Mrs. John Doe and daughter, or do I send individual invitations to these girls even though they live at the same address?—Joan R.

Dear Joan: The envelope should be addressed to "Mrs. John Doe" and on the next line "Miss Mary Doe" or "The Misses Doe."

So you're Planning to Give a Shower! A new booklet by Elizabeth L. Post tells you everything you need to know—for a bridal shower, a welcome party for a new neighbor, the local minister or anyone else. To get a copy, send twenty-five cents in coin to cover booklet and shipping expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this paper.

Talk on Ecuador For DAR Meeting; Two New Members

Miss Janet Hornbeck who served with the Peace Corps in Ecuador, South America, entertained members of Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Monday, March 6 at the Chapter House.

Displaying scenic color slides and handicraft of the Ecuadorians and Indians descended from the Incas, Miss Hornbeck portrayed their lives and backgrounds.

Two new members, the Mmes. Ernest Hopper and James K. Murphy, were initiated by the Regent Mrs. R. R. Empringham.

Elected to the Nominating Committee were Miss Mary Terwilliger, chairman, the Mmes. G. Herbert DeKay, James J. Murphy, Warren A. Russell and Miss Alberta Davis.

The annual spring rummage sale for Friday and Saturday, April 14 and 15 at the Chapter House, was announced by Mrs. Harry J. Rigby, Jr.

Mentioned by Miss B. Isabel Herdman was the new DAR Award honoring Dr. Anita Newcombe McGee Founder with the DAR of the Army Nurse Corps. This was presented by the President General Mrs. William H. Sullivan, Jr. on February 1, 1967 in Washington to Captain Linda A. Bowman, "U.S. Army Nurse of the Year," who flew in from Orleans, France to receive it.

Attention was called to the annual spring luncheon Monday, April 3 at the Governor Clinton Hotel, Mrs. Edward J. Reilly, State Regent, guest of honor.

Hostesses for the supper were the Mmes. George Dart, Floyd Ellsworth, Harold Smith.

Recitation of the American's Creed concluded the meeting.

Traffic Problem

NEW YORK (AP)—When you're the guest of honor, and you've got a fife and drum corps in tow, and the party's nearly over, and you're two hours late and still stuck in traffic, it's a bit of a sticky wicket, eh?

That's the spot the Honorable James A.C. Auld was in Wednesday night, while the 100th birthday festivities for Canada roared merrily on.

The centennial party, tossed by the Thousand Islands Bridge Authority began at 5 p.m. Auld, minister of tourism and information for the province of Ontario, was the guest of honor. Coming with him were fife and drummers from the Fort Henry Guard of Kingston, Ontario, who were to play while a birthday cake bearing 100 candles was lit.

But Auld & Co. didn't arrive until 7 p.m., half an hour before the party ended, because they were caught in snarled traffic between LaGuardia Airport and the Overseas Press Club, in midtown Manhattan.

Girl Scout News

Visit Senate House

Brownie Troop 151, of Chambers School, recently toured the Senate House and Museum in keeping with the Be a Discoverer theme of the Brownie Girl Scout program. Tours such as this are a vital part of the program which helps to acquaint the girls with their patriotic heritage.

The tour included all of the many interesting rooms in the old building and an introduction to the museum which has been added. Of special interest to the girls were the doll collection which has fascinated all the young girls, and older ones too, who have seen the display, and also the old kitchen facilities which are in such strong contrast to the modern day kitchen.

The troop was accompanied by their leader, Mrs. Willard Goodheim, assistant Mrs. Walter House and Mrs. William Seism.

Tours Founder's Home

Mrs. Horace Brown, Kingston Neighborhood Service Team, has just recently returned from a trip to the south, including several stopovers in Florida.

One of the highlights of her trip was a tour through the city of Savannah, Ga. and a visit to the birthplace of the Girl Scout founder, Juliette Gordon Low, which has been established as a museum through contributions to the Juliette Low Birthday Fund in which Girl Scouts all over the country take their part. The museum is a tribute not only to the memory of the founder of Girl Scouting, but also to the gracious way of life enjoyed by the people of that earlier day when the home was built.

There is a set of slides now available in the scout office which may be of interest to leaders in the area, there will also be a feature article about the birthplace in the March issue of Antiques magazine.

The Ulster County Council of Girl Scouts is a participating member agency of the Ulster County Community Chest with an active program for girls, through 70, based on fun, learning, adventure and service.

Hearty Skillet Meal Is Great Time Saver

On one of those days when time seems to vanish, a quick, hearty skillet meal can save you. When brown 'n serve sausage links are combined with a festive variety of canned corn and tomatoes and seasoned with chopped onion, only a success results.

Since the sausage links only need to be heated, they can be browned at the same time the onions are sauteing. The hearty, meaty flavor of the links will spark the vegetables and provide essential nutrients for good healthy living. Pre-cooked rice, a real time-saver, binds the dish together and adds satisfying bulk. A colorful and flavorful topping comes from a sprinkling of shredded Cheddar cheese. After a mere 20 minutes of heating this quick skillet meal is ready to serve.

During the 20 minutes the skillet dish is cooking a tossed salad and dessert can be prepared. A crisp green salad will provide a texture contrast to the main dish. With convenience foods to aid you, a pudding, cheesecake, or ice cream sundae topping can easily be prepared in this time.

When the supper hour draws near next time and you are unprepared, brown 'n serve sausage links and other convenience foods, plus ingenuity can help create a dinner that will draw compliments from all.

Sausage Skillet Meal

Yield: 4 to 5 Servings

8 ounce package sausage links

1 tablespoon butter or margarine

1 cup chopped onion

2 cups pre-cooked rice

12 ounce can whole kernel corn

1 pound can tomatoes

1 1/2 cups shredded Cheddar

Saute onion in melted butter.

Add sausage links and brown.

Add rice, corn, and tomatoes.

Cover and cook about 20 minutes.

Add cheese and heat until melted.

Serve hot.

AMRANIM BROTHERS

Israeli Night at Jewish Community Center

The Jewish Community Center has announced that the Amranim Brothers will be the featured entertainers for the Israeli Night, scheduled for March 18 at Temple Emanuel, Albany Avenue, Kingston.

The brothers, Shalom and Barak, third generation Israelis of Yemenite descent, used to sing together as children. Shalom, the older of the brothers, achieved recognition as a member of the "Guitar Duo" and Barak, the younger brother, was one of the outstanding members of the Armoured Corps Ensemble of the Israeli Defense Forces.

During the past years, the brothers have performed throughout Israel in towns, villages, kibbutzim and nightclubs. They have frequently appeared on board cruise ships and in Folklore Evenings presented in Israel by the Ministry of Tourism.

They give their audience a warm exciting picture of the land, its people and its culture. They have a style and sound of their own accompanied by perfect guitar technique and their special talent is the spontaneous and exciting feeling that they have for preserving the varied folklore that is Israel.

Other entertainment will include a color film entitled "A Journey Through Time" and guest speaker, Abbie Ben-Ari, Director of the Israeli Government Tourist Office.

Awards will be given by uniformed El Al hostesses. The event is being co-sponsored by the Jewish Community Center and the Couples Club of Temple Emanuel. All friends and members of these organizations are invited to attend.

Refreshments will be served after the entertainment. There will be no charge for admission and no solicitation of funds.

Ahavah Israel

Religious services are held at Congregation Ahavath Israel every Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Saturday morning at 9:30. Saturday evening at 5:30. Sunday morning at 10, and Sunday evening at 5:30.

This Friday evening the special guests at the services will be the DeMolays. Rabbi Harry Z. Schechtman will deliver the sermon entitled, The Last Chapter, referring to the significance of the last portion of the Book of Exodus to be read this Sabbath. A member of the DeMolays will speak about the organization after the rabbi's sermon. The liturgy will be chanted by Ralph Wall.

The junior congregation will meet as usual on Saturday morning in the children's chapel in the school building of the synagogue for religious services for all boys and girls. Refreshments will follow.

On Saturday night the Couples' Club of Ahavath Israel will meet for a program and for elections of new officers. All members of the congregation may attend.

The USY, the youth club of the congregation, will meet Sunday evening in the youth lounge of the synagogue.

Tuesday, March 14, the Sisterhood of the congregation will give a Torah Fund tea and buffet, for the benefit of Torah Fund for the support of the Jewish Theological Seminary. The guest speaker at this event will be Rabbi Baruch Schechtman, assistant rabbi at Temple Beth El of Springfield, Mass., who is a graduate of the Jewish Theological Seminary, and who will speak about the life in the seminary.

The Talmud Torah of Kingston will meet this week according to the regular schedule at the school building of Ahavath Israel.

Temple Emanuel

National Girl Scout Sabbath will be observed this Friday night during Sabbath Eve services at Temple Emanuel beginning 7:45 p. m. A number of Girl Scouts have been invited to attend the services as guests of the congregation. Also a group from the New Paltz Reformed Church will attend. Rabbi Jonathan Eichhorn will note this special occasion in his sermon entitled, The Equality of Women, which will deal with the role of women in Reform Judaism.

Mrs. Stanley Wyman will kindle the Sabbath lights and Stanley Wyman will lead the congregation in chanting the Kiddush. During memorial services, the memories of the following persons will be invoked: Raphael Blum, Minnie Cohen, Moses Neland, Leo Popkin, Alexander Ronder and Rosa Sampson.

Saturday religious school sabbath services will be 11:30 a. m. Temple Sisterhood will conduct a rummage sale Monday through Wednesday, March 13-15.

There will be no adult study group meeting Tuesday, March 14. The class will meet Tuesday, March 21.

Dr. Nelson Glueck, president of the Hebrew Union College, the seminary which prepares men for the Reform rabbinate, will speak at Temple Beth Emeth, Albany, Wednesday, March 15, at 8:30 p. m. He is a world renowned archaeologist and will speak on Archaeology and the Bible. The public may attend.

Friday, March 17, a birthday sabbath service will be held honoring children of the religious school who celebrate birthdays in February and March.

Saturday, March 18 the Temple Emanuel Couple Club and WILD SILK AND IRISH LACE combine for a look of old world elegance in the latest fashions from Ireland. This simple black pure silk sheath dress completely hand applied with crochet lace is from the spring/summer collection of Ib Jorgensen, one of Ireland's youngest designers. Selected by Coaches

McCray, Rinaldi Unanimous Picks for All-DCSL Quintet

BY ED FALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Gary McCray of Beacon and Roosevelt's Rich Rinaldi are the only two unanimous choices of the DCSL coaches for berths on the league's All-Star team.

Joining the two aces on the first team are Mike Eidel, Lourdes; Rich Lawrence, Poughkeepsie and Dave White, Arlington.

Named by the coaches to the second team are Greg Kohls, Roosevelt; Nate Milligan, Beacon; Scott McCandlish, Arlington; Mike Antalek, Lourdes and Steve Quill, Beacon.

Third team berths were awarded to Bob O'Connor and John Reynolds, Roosevelt; Leo Halloran, Cardinal Farley; Bob Dougherty, Wappingers and Tom Masterson, Lourdes.

All Are Seniors

The first team nominees are seniors. McCray is the best all-around player in the league. He shoots well, is an outstanding passer and does an excellent job on defense.

Rinaldi is the best shooter in the circuit. He scored more than 40 points on two different occasions for the Presidents.

Eidel broke the league scoring mark with 53 points against Cardinal Farley. Lawrence was the only bright spot in an otherwise drab season for Poughkeepsie. White sparkled for Arlington with several outstanding games.

Every club except Saugerties is represented on one of the three squads. The Sawyers placed Roger Praetorius and Jack Whittaker on the Honorable Mention list.

FIRST TEAM

Player	School	Yr.	Ht.
Gary McCray	Beacon Sr.	6-2
Rich Rinaldi	Roosevelt Sr.	6-2
Mike Eidel	Lourdes Sr.	5-10

HONORABLE MENTION

Leonard Boasts High Run of 180

Dick Leonard of Troy who plays Jim Davide of Kingston in a 150-point exhibition match tonight at 7:30 at the Golden Cue, boasts a career high run of 180.

The Northeastern New York and Western Massachusetts champion has a tournament high of 110. He also has won the Rochester Open and appeared for six weeks on the TV show, Challenge Pocket Billiards.

In exhibitions at Albany, Leonard defeated world runner-up Cicero Murphy four times and also turned back World Champion Luther Lassiter and ex-champion Babe Cranfield.

Davide earned the right to meet Leonard by winning Buster Ferraro's house tournament at the Golden Cue. The public is invited.

76ers Repeat Champs In Eastern Division

BOSTON (AP) — Coach Alex Hannum of the Philadelphia 76ers would rather be lucky than good — and he hopes his luck holds out against the Boston Celtics in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

"I goofed but I got lucky," Hannum said of the hectic final seconds in which the 76ers pulled out a 115-113 overtime victory over the Celtics Wednesday night to clinch their second straight Eastern Division title.

Philadelphia was leading 113-112 when Wilt Chamberlain fouled Boston Player-Coach Bill Russell with 21 seconds left. It was the 76ers' fourth team foul of the overtime period, giving Russell two shots, but he sank only one to tie the score.

The 76ers then held the ball for the last shot, and Hal Greer hit on a 25-foot jumper to win the game with two seconds left. "I yelled for Wilt to take that foul," Hannum said. "But I thought it would only give Russell one shot. If he'd made both shots and we'd lost, I'd be the luckiest but I bailed out with luck."

The victory not only clinched the regular season title but also evened the season's series between the teams at 4-4 with one game left. It also established an NBA record of 63 triumphs in a season, breaking the old mark of 62 set by the 1964-65 Celtics.

Philadelphia trailed by as much as 15 points in the third period, but rallied behind the sharpshooting of Greer, who had a game high 37 points. Bill Cunningham scored 21 points for the 76ers, while Chamberlain had 17.

Sam Jones led the Celtics with 20, and said the injured hand which forced him to sit out the previous night's game at Chicago didn't bother him at all.

In other games, the St. Louis Hawks edged the Lakers 106-104 at Los Angeles while the Pistons turned back the Baltimore Bullets 120-113 at Detroit.

The victory enabled the Hawks to move into undisputed possession of second place in the Western Division, one game ahead of the Lakers.

Len Wilkens sparked St. Louis with 37 points while Jerry West was high for Los Angeles with 34.

Dave Bing hit a career high of 47 points as the Pistons climbed back into a fourth-place tie in the West with idle Chicago in the battle for the last playoff spot.

It was the first victory for new coach Dennis Butcher, who took over Tuesday when Dave DeBusschere was relieved of his dual role as player-coach.

John Tresvant backed up Bing with 26 points for Detroit. Ray Scott led the Bullets with 37.

Junior Bowling Association Tournament Opener April 1

Ulster County Junior Bowling Association has set April 1-2 dates for its third annual tournament at Sangi's Bowlero in Kingston.

The tournament will feature competition in team, doubles and singles. Deadline for entries is March 18. Checks should be made payable to Ulster County Junior Bowling Association and mailed to Arlene Wilson, Box 355, Glasco Turnpike, Woodstock, N. Y. 12498.

Oldest entrant will determine the division the team or doubles bowl in. Handicaps will be in accordance with American Junior Bowling Congress regulations. Bowlers who roll in doubles must also compete in singles.

Age classifications are: Bantams—12 years and under on Aug. 1, 1966.

Juniors—13 through 15, who have not reached their 16th birthday, Aug. 1, 1966.

Seniors—16 through 19, who have not reached their 19th birthday, Aug. 1, 1966.

Individual trophies for team, doubles and singles will be awarded to the winners in each division. These awards will be made by the UCJBA. Trophies will be awarded for high single games in each division in conjunction with AJBC achievement awards.

The tournament is limited to members of the Ulster County Junior Bowling Association.

Narvaez, Laguna To Clash Friday

NEW YORK (AP) — "If Frankie Narvaez is looking for a fight, he won't have to worry — he'll get one and maybe get knocked out, too."

Ismael Laguna, the former world lightweight champion from Panama, made the comment today after he was told Narvaez called him a "running fighter."

Laguna, the tall, 23-year-old fighter called El Tigre (Tiger) in his native land, and Narvaez, the squat, 27-year-old gamester from Puerto Rico, meet Friday night at Madison Square Garden in a 12-rounder. The winner may get the next shot at champion Carlos Ortiz.

The 5-foot-9 Laguna, winner and loser to Ortiz in title bouts in 1965, is the No. 1 contender. Narvaez, 5-3½, is ranked second.

Laguna won the world crown from Ortiz at Panama City, Panama, April 10, 1965, on a 15-round decision and lost it back to Ortiz on another decision seven months later at San Juan, Puerto Rico. On the same card at San Juan, Narvaez outpointed Joe Brown, another ex-lightweight king, in a semifinal 10-rounder.

NCAA College Title Tilt Is Scheduled

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — Assumption of Worcester meets St. Michael's of Burlington, Vt., tonight for the NCAA college division regional playoff title and a berth in the Northeast title round.

Assumption edged host American International 87-85 on Tom O'Connor's two free throws with five seconds left in a third overtime and St. Michael's upset Northeastern 70-61 Wednesday in opening round games.

The winner of the Assumption-St. Michael's game will advance to a Saturday night meeting with Long Island University at New Britain, Conn. LIU won the New York-Connecticut playoffs by routing Central Connecticut 114-66 Wednesday night.

Lawrence Has 40 But PHS Loses

Despite a 40-point outburst by Richie Lawrence, Poughkeepsie was eliminated from the Section One Class AA playoffs, 68-65, last night by White Plains at the County Center.

The winners led all the way but they had their hands full with Lawrence. He potted 16 baskets and eight foul shots.

Pittsburgh Hornets Top Hershey, 6-3

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The slump is over — temporarily, at least — for the Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League.

Duke Harris scored twice Wednesday night as the Western Division leaders ended a six-game winless streak with a 6-3 victory over the Hershey Bears, Eastern Division pacesetters. Harris' goals gave him 30 for the season.

During the six-game span, the best Pittsburgh could manage was one tie. The rest were losses.

Hershey grabbed a 3-1 first period lead on goals by Gil Gilbert, Michel Harvey and Roger DeJordy. But Hornet goalie Hank Bassen made 19 saves in the last two stanzas to shut off the Bear attack.

There were no other games scheduled.

ON THE MOVE is unbeaten heavyweight contender Joe Frazier of Philadelphia. Joe's latest victim was Doug Jones, a 6th round knock-out victim.

Drop Redshirt Draft in Pros

NEW YORK (AP)—The American and National football leagues received a pat on the back today after doing away with the redshirt draft which had left a number of rednecked college football coaches.

College conference commissioners throughout the country praised Wednesday's announcement that the first combined player draft will be held next week and prohibits selection of athletes redshirted by colleges.

"This is not anything we specifically asked for," said Commissioner Bill Reed of the Big Ten and former chairman of the Professional Relations Committee of the NCAA, "but it is evidence of the cooperation we were led to believe we could expect from pro football."

Dr. Paul Brechler, commissioner of the Western Athletic Conference, also expressed satisfaction at the arrangement.

"It will help college football," he said, "and whatever helps college football can't help but be good for pro football, as we felt that this was coming and it should help solve quite a few problems for universities and university athletes."

Howard Grubbs, executive secretary of the Southwest Conference, and A.M. (Tom) Coleman, commissioner of the Southeastern Conference, joined in the praise and Coleman explained why.

Sees Benefits

"Not only student athletes but students are taking more than four years to graduate," he said, "and I think it will be better for everybody concerned if they are permitted to finish their college careers without having to be concerned with problems that would result in their being drafted."

"Then, too, I think the pros will have a better evaluating of the athlete's ability and at the same time the athlete can better plan his future."

The previous plan allowed the pro leagues to draft redshirts in the NFL in the regular draft and the AFL in a special draft — and it left college coaches angry over losing players who still had a year of eligibility remaining.

A redshirt is a player who sat out a year of football college and retained that year of eligibility after his class has graduated.

Under the adopted compromise plan, pro Commissioner Pete Rozelle said no player with collegiate eligibility remaining can be drafted until five seasons of football had elapsed since he first entered a recognized college.

Rozelle said 17 rounds of the draft would be held in New York starting Tuesday and might continue another day or two. He estimated 445 players would be chosen by the 16 NFL teams and nine AFL clubs, including 20 extra picks by New Orleans, the NFL's newest team.

Royner Greene Retires as Coach

CHICAGO (AP) — Royner Greene, basketball coach at North Park College here since 1960 and a former coach at Cornell University in Ithaca, N.Y., has retired from coaching.

Greene, who came to North Park after 13 years at Cornell, announced his decision Wednesday night.

Under Greene, Cornell won the Ivy League basketball title in 1964, the school's first in 30 years in the league.

Greene said he will remain at North Park as athletic director, baseball coach and associate professor of physical education. At North Park, which competed in the College Conference of Illinois, his teams compiled a record of 71-73, including 15 victories and 7 losses this season.

SIDELINE VIEWS

By ED PALLADINO

It is never good news when we learn of the passing of a good friend. The death of Bill Knott in Orlando, Florida at the age of 38 leaves us with much sadness.

Bill Knott was a gentleman and was respected by those with whom he came in contact. He was a member of the Central Hudson Valley Board of Approved Basketball Officials and also did volunteer work with the Rondout Valley Babe Ruth League in its formative years.

Our sympathy goes to his wife and family. His tragic death leaves a void in our midst.

• All About Basketball

Richie Faulk, Marlboro High School's basketball star, set three records in winning up his career. They were most points in a season, 461; most field goals in a season, 208 and high single game performance, 53 points. His career total of 1,018 points ranks second only to Richard (Rod) Aurigemma, who played for the Manhattan College frosh team this past season. Wes Blaloukakis, University of Connecticut basketball standout, has been named to the NCAA District 1 All-America basketball team chosen by the U.S. Basketball Writers Association. The team is listed in the current issue of Look Magazine. . . Mark Pallinski, former star at Our Lady of Lourdes, closed his career at Siena College with 1,083 points, breaking the record of 1,021 held by Timmy Hill. His single season mark of 448 surpassed the 417 scored by Hill in 1958-59.

• Coleman Rejected

As predicted in this column several weeks ago, the UCAL has quietly rejected the application for membership of the John A. Coleman High School. As usual, the vote wasn't given nor were the reasons. . . Dale Waits has been named varsity baseball coach at Roosevelt. He succeeds Gerry Marquardt, the school's athletic director and varsity basketball coach. . . Middletown High School seniors Bruce Berthoff and Howard Broadhead have been named to the high school All-American football team by Coach and Athlete Magazine. Both will spend St. Patrick's Day visiting the Notre Dame campus at South Bend.

• Athletes and Students

Examples of athletes hitting the schoolbooks exceptionally well are cited by those on the Kingston High basketball team. Ken Gilligan and Charles Jones as well as manager Roger Thiel are on the 90 per cent honor roll. Werner Kolla, A. J. Murphy, Pete Wetzlar, jayvee player Gary Matthews and manager Jim Gilpatrick are 85 per cent students. Charles Plunkett, co-captain of the swimming team, is also an 85 per cent honor roll student, as is football ace Russ Supples. That these boys find time to study and practice each night should prove that athletes just aren't big oafs with very little knowledge.

• Two Good Games

The championship clashes Friday at the New Paltz College gym in Classes A and B of the Section Nine tournament should be crowd pleasers. Kingston and Newburgh always give the spectators a good show. The Goldbacks will be trying to get back at the Colonials after losing the Section Nine tournament last season. Rondout Valley, which beat everyone but Marlboro in the UCAL, will be meeting a Washingtonville team which many experts feel should give the Class A champion quite a battle. This will mark the end of the scholastic campaign and you couldn't ask for better attractions.

• A Passing Note

Why wasn't Kingston High School's swimming team represented in the diving championships last Friday at Warwick? It seems unfair from this corner to have the others compete but not the diver just because that phase of the Section Nine tournament took place at a different time and place.

Nassau Cup Race Slated Friday

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — The Southern Ocean Racing Conference season will end Friday in a 30-mile dash for the Nassau Cup and bestowal of honors on standouts in the fleet of 80 sail.

Latest taste of glory in the five-race series was being savored by Thor Ramsing of Greenwich, Conn., and crew.

Semi-Finals Set In ECAC Hockey

BOSTON (AP) — Top-seeded Boston University meets St. Lawrence and second-ranked Cornell faces upset-minded Boston College tonight in semifinals of the sixth annual ECAC Hockey Tournament at Boston Garden.

The BU Terriers and Cornell's Ivy League champions, who battled to a standoff earlier in the season, are favored to advance to a showdown in the ECAC finale Saturday night.

BU, beaten in the semifinals as a favorite the last two years, hiked its record to 23-2-1 in a 6-2 romp over Harvard in a tournament opener Tuesday. Cornell routed Brown 11-2, boosting its mark to 23-1-1.

During the season, BU's only losses were on a trip to Denver. The Terriers and Cornell battled to a 3-3 standoff in two overtime games in the final of the Boston Arena Holiday Tournament. Cornell later was upset by Yale for the Big Red's lone loss.

St. Lawrence, which was plagued by injuries in a 7-2 loss to BU last month, hopes to avenge that loss. The Larries, seeded fourth, have a 17-6-1 record after a 4-2 quarter-final triumph over Yale.

Boston College, seeded No. 3, was an 18-7 record after a 9-2 whipping of Clarkson. The Eagles were edged 3-2 by Cornell earlier in the season.

Umpire Tests

Orange County Baseball Umpires Association will hold tests for prospective candidates April 2 at Fancher-Davidge Park in Middletown at 2 p.m. Interested persons may contact Ernest Kastelic, secretary, 10 Academy Avenue, Cornwall-on-Hudson, 12520.

Cerebral Palsy Bowling Sweeps Open March 13

The three city bowling establishments—Ferraro's Bowlerama, Mid-City Lanes and Sangi's Bowlero—will host the first annual Cerebral Palsy Bowling Sweeps sponsored by the Circle K Club the week of March 13-19.

The sweepstakes is open to all bowlers who may compete in their regular league sessions. Bowlers can enter as many times as their leagues roll during a week.

Seventy cents of the one dollar entry fee goes to the local CP Center and thirty cents to the prize fund. First and second place prize money will be awarded in each establishment. Additional prizes will be pro-rated according to the number of entries in each establishment.

Men's Organization
The Circle K Club is a college men's service organization under the auspices of Kiwanis International, dedicated to community and fraternal services.

The local club, sponsored by Kingston Kiwanis, has in the past done volunteer work for the Boys Club and Muscular Dystrophy, as well as for Cerebral Palsy. Officers are: William Boyd, president; John Rafferty, vice president and Ronald Hines, secretary. They will be in charge of the sweepstakes.

Assisting the Circle K Club will be the Colonial Valley Chapter of the National Secretaries Association under the direction of Miss Blanche Carter. The secretaries association, founded to further the secretarial profession, will help with the entries at the lanes.

The 128-man field goes another six games Thursday with the top 64 moving into another six-game session Thursday night.

Wide Interests Favor Expanded Air Routes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interests as diverse as the Interior Department, Niagara Falls, N.Y., and the Mormon Church favor proposed expansion of airline service in the Pacific area.

A hearing by the Civil Aeronautics Board is considering whether U.S. air carrier service to Hawaii and the Far East should be expanded by the award of new routes.

The Washington phase of the hearing, before Examiner Robert L. Park, began Wednesday with mountains of testimony from interested parties being placed into the record by stipulation.

Achieved Fame

Some chimpanzees have achieved considerable fame. A London chimp named "Congo" became a television personality between 1956 and 1959 by painting 384 pictures, some with a brush.

GI's in Saigon Lose Allowances For City Living

SAIGON (AP) — American servicemen in Saigon reacted with groans, sighs and occasional screams today to the news that they're losing $21-million a year in living allowances. The cuts out in the boondocks couldn't care less — they weren't getting it.

Short-timers whose tours in Vietnam are nearly over took it casually. Others said the Pentagon was fouled up, blind, crazy or an unrelenting combination of these and other things.

The Pentagon announced Wednesday that on May 1 it is ending the cost of living allowances paid to some 31,200 servicemen in the Saigon area. The allowances — ranging from $27 a month for privates to $84 for generals — were intended to help men who had to live partially on the badly inflated civilian economy.

Many men drawing the allowance were actually living in military quarters and eating at military messes. But others told a different story.

"Look around this town," said one Army sergeant who didn't want his name used. "There are hundreds of guys who miss meals and have to grab things and eat for all kinds of things they wouldn't have to if they were working on some regular base. It'll cost me about $2 a day and I will really miss it."

Air Force Maj. Lewis Raines, with a wife and four kids in Colorado Springs, Colo., is one of those who will be hurt. He rents a civilian house and works in a downtown Saigon building. His allowance has been $73 a month.

"It's a dirty shame," said Marine Lt. Col. James Williams of La Jolla, Calif., who also works in downtown Saigon. "The people who will be hardest hit though are the enlisted men who are forced to live in an area known for its high cost of living — Saigon."

The U. S. Command has announced that almost all American military personnel will be moved to bases outside of Saigon this year. About 1,000 troops have been moved since November, officials said, and they hope to complete the movement by the summer.

CHARGED IN SLAYING OF BOYS—John Wesley Williams, Jr., 17, right, hears Winnebago County Sheriff Herbert Brown, left, charge him with murder in the execution-style slaying of two 14-year-old boys at Rockford, Ill. Williams had been recently acquitted in the sniper-shooting of another Rockford teen ager. The two victims, cousins, were lined up against a wall in a park pavilion and shot. (AP Wirephoto)

Sees Consular Pact Death in Viet Tie

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Thruston B. Morton contends a Senate vote linking the proposed U.S.-Soviet consular treaty to the war in Vietnam would be a vote to kill the agreement.

And Democratic strategists at the Capitol and White House were reported concerned lest the Senate take such a step, as suggested by Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D.

"I'm concerned about all reservations," said Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

With a battle over proposed reservations looming ahead, the Senate faced today a treaty amendment proposed by Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., to restrict the immunity from arrest that would be granted consular officials by the proposed treaty.

Official Attacks Merit System Abuses in State

An official of the New York State Employees Council 50, AFL-CIO, has condemned what he terms "abuse of the merit system in the department of correction."

Thomas Thompson, Napanoch, chairman of the council's Correction Policy Committee, charged this abuse stems from "certain prejudicial promotional examination practices favoring Youth Camp personnel." He made the charge during a two-day meeting of the committee in Albany earlier this week. Delegates from prison affiliates throughout the state attended.

Thompson said the committee will lodge a formal complaint with the department and described the grievance as relating to "contrary promotional exams that are open to Youth Camp personnel and closed to Correction Officers." Thompson said this practice has limited promotional opportunities open to correction officers.

New York State operates five Youth Camps at various locations, for teenage offenders.
